ARMS TO SOUTH AFRICA BANNED

—Infant Rushed To Boston—

Kennedy Baby Premature, Ill

. . . Respiratory Ailment Reported

Boston (AP) — President Kennedy visited his ailing baby Wednesday night in the Boston Children's Hospital Medical Center where the premature infant was taken by ambulance from Otis Air Force Base where it was born by caesarian section earlier in the day.

The President went to a fifth floor room set aside for the new baby, donned a white gown and mask and went in the room to see the child after consulting with Dr. James E. Drorbaugh, a pediatrician called in when the child developed a breathing difficulty.

The hospital said the ailment was diagnosed as idiopathic respiratory distress syndrome.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said, "In laymen's language this is a respiratory problem in which a breathing problem develops."

'Not Uncommon'

"I am told this is not uncommon in premature children," he said.

"The baby is in an isolette which is a more advanced type of incubator, a device which attempts to create an environment like a mother's womb," Salinger said.

He said on arrival the baby was taken out of the Otis Air Base isolette for X-rays and was given medication to help its breathing. Then it was placed in a hospital isolette.

The baby was baptized Wednesday by Father John Scahill of Portland, Maine, who is the Catholic chaplain at Otis AFB, Salinger said.

The baby was named Patrick Bouvier Kennedy after the President's grandfather and father and Mrs. Kennedy's father.

The President's grandfather was Patrick J., and his father is Joseph Patrick Kennedy. Mrs. Kennedy's father was John Bouvier.

Quick baptisms of premature babies are not uncommon among Catholics although full term babies are usually baptized within a few weeks of birth.

No Condition Report

Salinger said that he could not give a condition report on the baby right now since the doctors, he said, report the breathing difficulty takes about 4 days to develop to a point where they can make a final diagnosis.

Asked whether the baby was on the critical list, Salinger answered quickly "I would not say that."

Salinger said the baby will be in the hospital in Boston at least 4 days and Mrs. Kennedy will remain at the Otis AFB hospital for a time but he could not say how long.

Salinger reported that Mrs. Kennedy's condition tonight was fine.

The announcement of the baby's ailment came a little more than 4 hours after Dr. John Walsh of Washington delivered the child at the Air Force hospital.

Equipment Needed

A helicopter flew Dr. Drorbaugh from the Children's Hospital in Boston after the illness developed.

The President, who arrived by jet from Washington about an hour after his third child was born, appeared serious and unsmiling as he left the Otis hospital. When a newsman expressed the hope "everything comes out all right," the chief executive turned and said quietly "thank you."

U. N. Council Votes Embargo

. . . Because Of Apartheid Policy

United Nations, N. Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council Wednesday voted a worldwide arms embargo against South Africa but turned down an Asian-African demand for a boycott of South African goods.

The measures were aimed at South Africa's policy of apartheid, or racial segregation, which had been denounced by African leaders as a threat to peace.

The economic boycott was killed by a separate vote before the watered-down resolution was approved 9-0 with Britain and France abstaining. The resolution was sponsored by Ghana, Morocco and the Philippines and was considerably more moderate than some Africans had wanted.

Some had insisted that South Africa should be expelled or at least suspended from the United Nations, but the sponsors decided such proposals had no chance of approval.

The economic boycott provision received only 5 affirmative votes—two short of the 7 required for adoption. Supporting it were the 3 sponsors, the Soviet Union and Venezuela. The United States, Britain, France, Nationalist China, Brazil and Norway abstained.

Long Debate

The vote came after a week-long debate which was boycotted by South Africa. The South African government contended that its racial policies were purely an internal matter and therefore not subject to U.N. action.

As approved, the resolution specifically:

—Deprecated South African racial policies.

—Called on the South African government to abandon such policies and to release all persons imprisoned in connection with the policy of apartheid.

—Called upon all countries to cease forthwith the sale of arms, ammunition of all types and military vehicles to South Africa.

—Requested Secretary-General U Thant to report back to the Security Council on developments by Oct. 30.

U.S. Ending Sales

The United States already had announced it was ending all U.S. arms sales to South Africa by the end of the year, but its support of the resolution was given only after a change in wording eliminated a reference to a threat to peace. In its final form, the draft substituted the word "disturbing" for threatening.

Britain's Sir Patrick Dean said that in the light of his country's defense agreement with South Africa it must reserve its position on the arms embargo provision. At present, he said, Britain is not shipping arms to South Africa that could be used for the suppression of people.

Dean added that, despite Britain's abstention, "we remain strongly opposed to the policies of apartheid and are in agreement . . . with the underlying purpose of the resolution."

New Funds Sought For Hallam

. . . AEC BACKS REQUEST FOR $12 MILLION BOOST

Washington (AP)—Atomic Energy Commission officials testified Wednesday before a congressional committee in support of an estimated $12 million increase in government costs for the Hallam, Neb., nuclear reactor plant.

Dr. Emerson Jones, an official of Consumers Public Power District, the reactor operator, appeared in behalf of its request for a committee waiver of a 45-day waiting period in cases of proposed amendments to contracts so as to prevent any temporary idling of the plant.

AIC Commissioner Robert E. Wilson and commission staff members, Jones and Dr. Sidney Siegel, vice president of Atomics International which designed and built the plant under government contract, testified before a Senate-House Atomic Energy Subcommittee.

DR. EMERSON JONES

Development Activity

The AEC officials said the original government cost estimate of $50 million was made in 1957 when the commission was without the benefit of detailed designs or the development activity which occurred later.

Of the $12 million increase, $8.98 million would be in connection with plant construction. There also would be an estimated increase in cost of a uranium carbide core as the first replacement AEC proposes for the original core now in use

Consumers, the AEC witnesses said, was to supply the replacement core and had requested AEC approval to procure a uranium dioxide core, based on its view that that type would provide the greatest assurance of serving Consumer's economic interest.

More Promise

AEC said it selected uranium carbide as the first core replacement because of its greater economic promise for sodium-graphite reactors and because it wanted to get early proof of its value in future high temperature reactors.

It said uranium dioxide would work at Hallam but it wanted the tests and would pick up the difference in cost.

Jones told the committee use of uranium carbide at Hallam has been reviewed by Consumers and it was concluded that for that reactor there probably was no economic advantage as compared with uranium dioxide.

However, he said, Consumers agrees uranium carbide could hold a great deal of promise for future sodium graphite reactors and for the technology of sodium systems applicable to breeder reactors and has agreed to use uranium carbide as the first replacement fuel.

Waiver Asked

Consumers has asked the committee to waive the remainder of the 45-day waiting period for contractual amendments because it appears the existing reactor fuel may not last long enough to permit fabrication of the new fuel, idling the reactor for an extended time.

Jones said demands for electricity from the plant have increased and Consumers is concerned with the scheduling of the various activities that will permit continued operation of the reactor.

The AEC witnesses said the Hallam plant, still in the testing and start-up stage, would be ready to turn over to Consumers in October or November for operation.

Haiti Says Rebel Force Is Crushed

Port Au Prince, Haiti, (AP)—President Francois Duvalier's regime claimed Wednesday its troops crushed a rebel invading force and drove it across the border into the Dominican Republic after several hours of fighting in North Haiti Monday.

Private sources in the Haitian capital tended to confirm the government's claim, but insisted the rebel leader, Gen. Leon Cantave, was still inside Haitian territory pursuing his drive to bring down Duvalier's regime.

Exile sources in Santo Domingo, capital of the neighboring Dominican Republic, continued to claim rebel gains. These sources insisted two Haitian rebel columns had speared down past Cap Haitien and a third was moving across the northwest peninsula in an apparent pincers action on Gonaives, a west coast fort and Haiti's third largest city.

Claim New Help

Rebel informants and exile sources claimed the original force of 500 invaders was swelled in the last two days by soldiers who deserted Duvalier's forces to join the insurgents under Cantave, the former Army commander.

However, a Haitian government communique issued by Information Minister George J. Figaro contradicted rebel claims of advances deep inside north Haiti after seaborne landings Sunday and Monday.

Figaro insisted rebels wearing Dominican Army uniforms crossed into Haiti from the neighboring Dominican Republic Sunday night and captured the frontier post of Meillac by surprise.

Say Driven Back

The communique said the rebels never reached Fort Liberte as they claimed but were driven back across the Dominican border after several hours of fighting.

Meanwhile in Washington, the Organization of American States special committee on the Dominican-Haiti dispute was reported to have decided to ask Haiti for more evidence on its charges that invading exiles "came from the Dominican Republic."

The special committee held a two-hour closed meeting. Afterward its chairman, Alberto Zuleta Angel of Colombia, would only say the committee would meet again soon.

In the countries of the world where cooperatives are strong—Australia, Britain, Canada, Japan, Switzerland, the U.S. and the Scandanavian nations — freedom is strong, and communism is either weak or nonexistent.

This was the reminder Raymond W. Miller, president, Public Relations Research Associates, Washington, D.C., left with American Institute of Cooperation final session Wednesday evening.

"This is no accident. It is true because communism and cooperatives are not compatible," said Miller.

2 Major Threats

He warned the cooperative leaders of America, Canada and Puerto Rico that the world faces two major threats of disaster: (1) destruction by scientific war, and (2) the threat of hunger and starvation.

He quoted Dr. Binay Ranyan Sen of India, director of the United Nations' Food and Agricultural Organization, as saying, "There are more hungry people in the world today than at any time in recorded history."

"If the present rate of growth continues, the number of passengers on the Space Ship Earth will total 6 billion and they will all want something to eat 3 times a day," said Miller.

'Not A Panacea'

Miller described the nonprofit cooperative as one of man's greatest, most useful and most needed discoveries.

"It is not an automatic panacea for all of mankind's ills, but it has a big part to play in helping mankind meet the need for seedbeds for freedom in the world, and to help overcome the twin threats of starvation and destruction by war," said Miller.

Kleinschmidt To Direct SE Mental Health Clinic

Dr. George Kleinschmidt, presently head of security services at the Lincoln State Hospital, has been named clinical director of the Southeast Nebras- Health Clinic in Lincoln.

Kleinschmidt

Dr. Kleinschmidt, 39, takes over the position vacated last December by the resignation of Dr. Robert K. Jones. Dr. Thaddeus P. Khrush, Nebraska Psychiatric Institute (NPI) community services director, has filled the position on a part-time basis since December.

George Morris, state institutions director, made the announcement, and said the appointment was effective Oct. 1.

Dr. Kleinschmidt explained that he will take the post on a half-time basis from October until next January, and spend half his time at his present post to facilitate the changeover.

Dr. Kleinschmidt, a University of Nebraska graduate, took his internship at the Naval Hospital in Mare Island, Calif., and his residency at the Naval Hospital, Corpus Christi, Tex., and NPI.

He has headed the maximum security section of the Lincoln State Hospital since February, 1960, and previously served as assistant superintendent and clinical director at East State Hospital, Vinita, Okla., and chief of continued treatment services in the Oklahoma State Hospital, Norman.

Dr. Kleinschmidt is married, and has one daughter, Carolyn, 12, a student at Irving Junior High School.

Morris also announced that Lincoln psychiatrists, Drs. Robert Stein, Rex Strader and John Baldwin will continue to provide consultant services for the Lincoln mental health unit.

2 From Beatrice Are Sentenced For Cattle Theft

Beatrice (UPI)—A Beatrice man and his mother-in-law Wednesday were sentenced in District Court on charges of cattle theft. Leonard M. Larson was sentenced to 3 years in the State Penitentiary.

Edris Sue McArthur received a 3 year probationary sentence. The two earlier pleaded guilty to the charge but sentencing was delayed.

They were arrested by Gage County officers following the theft of a heifer from the Beatrice Sales Pavilion.

Postal Inspector Explains Services

Chief Postal Inspector Jack Bradley of Lincoln told local law enforcement officers Wednesday of services available from the Postal Inspector's office.

Bradley spoke to the monthly meeting of COPS, the Combined Organization of Police Services. He informed the 28 lawmen in attendance of the functions which the postal inspector's office has available to city police and sheriff's offices in crime investigative work.

UNTIL IT'S FIT, WATER BILLS TO GO UNPAID

Brampton, Ont. (AP) — One hundred home owners have declared they will not pay their water bills until town water piped to their subdivision "is fit for drinking."

Mrs. Peggy Gardner told a taxpayers' meeting her family used ginger ale for brushing teeth because the water tastes and smells so bad. She said there must be some defects in the mains.

Mayor Russell Prouse blamed dissolved iron from the waterworks' deep wells for the trouble.

Pope In First Audience

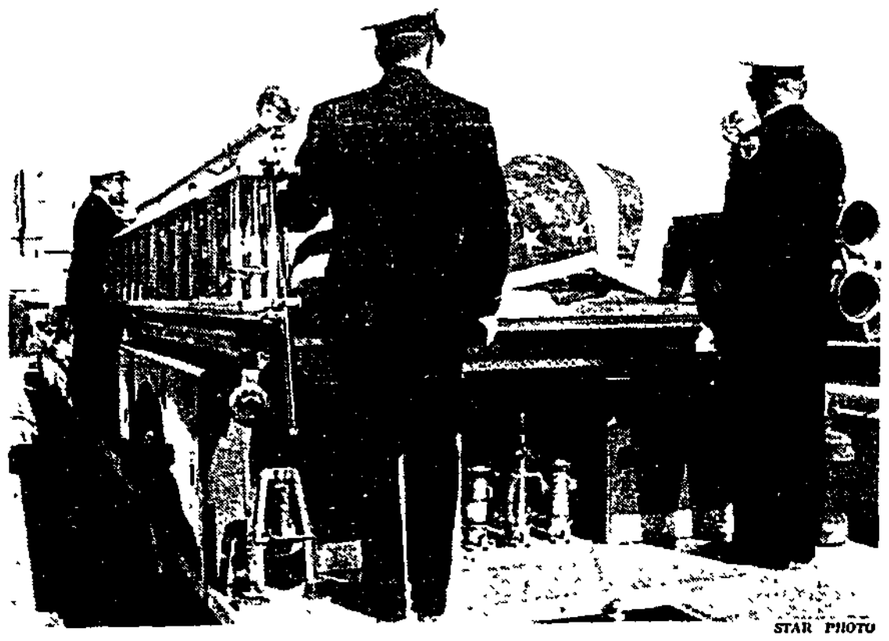

Castel Gandolfo, Italy (UPI) — Pope Paul VI held his first general audience at the summer papal home and told a group of 10,000 pilgrims he still is "filled with consternation and fear" by the papacy. "We ask you to pray for us," he said, because of the "great responsibilities that weigh upon our weak shoulders."

LAST HONORS FOR FIREMAN

Lincoln Fire Department officials and personnel paid final respects Wednesday to Assistant Fire Chief Clifford E. Murphy, 64, who died Sunday after serving the city fire department for nearly 33 years. The well-known and well liked "Murph" was laid to rest at an impressive service honoring the assistant chief's memory with full military and firemen's rites. Murphy's body made its last trip in a firetruck, the casket covered with an American flag. Murphy had more years of service in the fire department than any other man on the job. He was promoted to assistant chief in January of 1961.

26 To Sign Test Ban Thursday

Senate Slates Monday Start On Hearings

Washington (AP) — The new nuclear test ban treaty is thrown open to all nations Thursday and 19—led by Australia—are scheduled to sign here during the day.

President Kennedy also will send the treaty to the senate for ratification, accompanied by a special message Thursday, the White House announced. Hearings begin Monday.

Asst. White House Press Secretary Andrew Hatcher said he knew of no change in this plan although the President was summoned suddenly to Otis Air Force Base in Massachusetts where Mrs. Kennedy gave birth by caesarean section to their third child—a boy.

Confident of OK

Administration sources appeared confident that the Senate would okay the treaty by the required two-thirds majority.

Signing of the treaty by other nations was slated to start at the State Department at the undiplomatic hour of 8:45 a.m. with Australian Ambassador Howard Beale affixing his signature. Further signing ceremonies will continue at 15-minute intervals throughout the day, with American officials standing by U.S. officials predicted virtually all nations on earth will eventually join the pact, the notable exceptions being France and Red China—both pushing their own independent atomic development.

Washington's global survey has found that between 102 and 105 countries out of a total 114 have indicated they favor the pact, and 56 to date have indicated they will sign.

Open To All

The treaty is open to all states. The 3 atomic powers that framed it—Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States — want the maximum number to join, on grounds it will be of maximum effect that way.

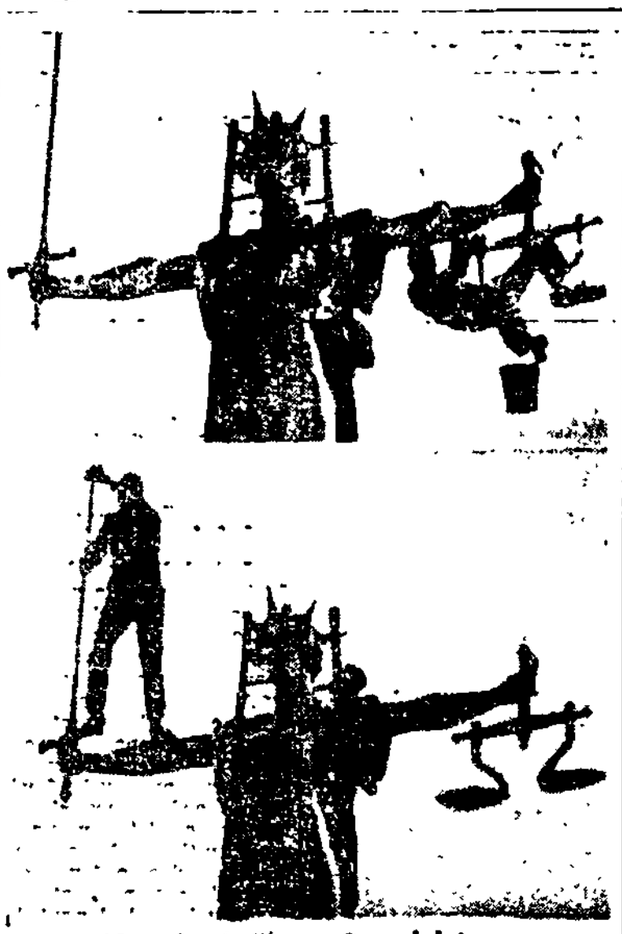

Those wishing to join can do so at Washington, London or Moscow. With the treaty opening for universal joining Thursday, envoys were lining up to pledge their countries to the ban in London and Moscow as well as here. Some states intended to sign in all 3 places.

Other nations that will sign besides Australia are:

Hungary, Mexico, Canada, India, New Zealand, the Philippines, Malaya, Liberia, Thailand, Iran, Poland, Belgium, Bulgaria, Italy, Yugoslavia, Finland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Cyprus, Honduras, Chile, Israel, Afghanistan, Tunisia and Ireland.

Actually, the treaty will not become binding on anyone before the U.S. Senate okays it.

That is because the treaty provides that it can become effective only after ratification by the 3 original signatories.

'Justice' Gets Swabbing

The symbolic statue of "Justice" atop Old Bailey Central Criminal Court in London received its annual cleaning Tuesday. Ladders were propped against the statue, front and back. Dangling a water bucket on his leg, a worker at the top hung by one arm to scrub the scales. At the bottom a worker stood on an arm to shine the sword.

2 Segregationists Face Runoff Battle

Jackson, Miss. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson and former governor J. P. Coleman planned segregation-centered strategy Wednesday for a Democratic primary runoff for governor—their second in 8 years.

Steadily mounting returns from Tuesday's first primary voting kept the two political veterans well ahead in the 4-man race. Sources close to both men predicted the runoff campaign would make the uneasy racial situation the prime topic.

With 1,622 of the state's 1,882 precincts reporting, Johnson had 134,017 votes to 114,168 for Coleman. Charles Sullivan trailed with 96,680, while run-for-fun candidate Robert Mason had 2,263.

In the 1959 first primary, Coleman trailed Johnson by 18,000 votes but won the runoff by 48,000 in a campaign staged before the racial uproar reached this state.

This time racial matters crowded traditional issues off the stump. All 4 candidates campaigned as opponents of the Kennedy administration. Each pledged an all-out effort to thwart administration desegregation and civil rights plans.

Continued emphasis on race, heightened by the personal clash of the two longtime foes will bring new heat to the runoff between men who both blocked efforts of Negroes to enter the University of Mississippi.

Johnson, a 47-year-old Hattiesburg attorney and son of the late Gov. Paul Johnson Sr., turned away James Meredith on one of the Negro student's unsuccessful bids to enter the campus last fall.

Coleman, a 49-year-old Ackerman lawyer who served as governor in 1956-60, turned away Negro Clennon King during his term of office and had him whisked to a mental hospital for observation. King was declared sane and later left the state.

Ex-Dictator's Plot Is Foiled By Colombia

Bogota, Colombia (AP) — The armed forces thwarted a plot by former Dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla to seize control of Colombia Wednesday while President Guillermo Leon Valencia was absent from the capital, the national news service reported.

Five persons were reported arrested and others were sought.

The usually well-informed private news agency said President Valencia had ordered the arrest of Rojas, Colombian president from 1953 until his ouster in 1957, but he had not been found.

Those arrested, the news agency said, quoting an unidentified high government source, included 3 retired armed forces officers, one of them identified as Rojas' son-in-law. They were not otherwise identified.

Plot Leaked

The news agency said the plot involved seizure of the presidential palace and detention of cabinet ministers and armed forces heads, but that word of the planned coup had leaked to army leaders.

The other two persons implicated in the plot were arrested in Cucuta, where President Valencia stayed before leaving for San Cristobal just across the border in Venezuela, the news service said.

Valencia is meeting with Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt in San Cristobal to discuss, among other things, ways of stopping subversion and terrorism in their respective countries.

Buffalo Loses To Civilization

Kankakee, Ill. (AP) — Like his forebears of a century ago, a 2-year-old male buffalo fell before the onrush of civilization early Thursday. He went down fighting, and he took a 1963 convertible with him.

Lawrence W. Hitz was driving along Illinois 45 on his way home from work when the buffalo charged out of the fog. The impact wrecked Hitz's car. The buffalo, critically injured, was pinned beneath and had to be put to death.

Hitz escaped injury, and so did the driver of another car which bumped into the wreckage.

The buffalo belonged to Oren Bolin, who operates a game farm. Bolin's son, Bob, said the animal escaped by digging out a fence post.

Honolulu's First Daily Newspaper In 48 Days Seen

Honolulu (AP) — Honolulu's first major daily newspaper in 48 days was circulated Thursday when the Honolulu Advertiser resumed publishing at the end of a strike by 6 unions.

The Honolulu Star-Bulletin published its first post-strike edition Thursday afternoon.

The lengthy strike by 895 employes of the two major Hawaii dailies won a 3-year contract.

Under the settlement employes receive weekly increases each year ranging from $4 to $5.

The Advertiser's headline story said Honolulu retailers lost between $10 and $20 million worth of business because of the strike and loss of normal advertising channels.

Negro Lobbyist Lot Not All Happy

Washington (AP)—Negro leaders meeting here to plug for sweeping civil rights legislation learned Wednesday that a lobbyist's lot is not an entirely happy one.

Uniformly they got cordial handshakes on Capitol Hill. But as for their cause, they reported reactions ranging from thumping endorsement through doubletalk to blunt rejection.

One of the most frustrated men reporting back to a strategy conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was NAACP delegate Thomas P. Cobbs of Portsmouth, N.H.

His frustration stemmed from a lobbying session with Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H. Cobbs, who feels that Cotton "has not voted right" on civil rights, set out to convert the senator.

But after their talk, Cobbs reported sadly:

"My impression is that the senator made a whole lot of words but said very little."

For example, Cobbs said he reminded Cotton that New Hampshire has a public accommodations law on its books. But, Cobbs said, this did not convert Cotton to supporting the Kennedy administration bill's provision banning racial discrimination in public accommodations, including restaurants, hotels and theaters.

Cotton, according to Cobbs, pumped for a constitutional amendment on civil rights. Reminded that this would take time, Cotton was reported to have asked whether action next week was demanded. Cobbs said he replied:

"Not next week, we want it today."

The NAACP lobbyists brought back a cheerier report from their visit to the Massachusetts delegation Democratic Sen. Edward M. Kennedy was there, along with many of the House members, and the report was that the old abolitionist commonwealth is strong for a civil rights bill.

Some Georgia congressmen said they certainly wouldn't vote for the civil rights bill. As for Arkansas, the lobbyists got "only a fleeting glimpse" of Democratic Sen. John L. McClellan, a busy investigator, as he "flitted from office to office."

From a session with the Maryland delegation, the lobbyists got the impression at first that the Free State was lined up solidly for the kind of bill the NAACP desires.

But a shadow crossed the NAACP lobbyists' minds when freshman Republican Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton got up to talk. He's a millionaire brother of Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., and he comes from Maryland's South-oriented Eastern shore.

He said he favors moving toward a new plateau—a plateau of "common citizenship."

A Negro got up and asked just where Morton stood on pending legislation.

Morton said: "When it emerges from committee to the House floor I will search my soul and decide according to my ability, for or against."

Mrs. Juanita Jackson Mitchell, president of the Maryland, state council of NAACP, said she would have people visit Morton and assist him in his soul-searching.

CORE Defies Truce, Slates More Protest

New York (AP) — A Congress of Racial Equality spokesman said Wednesday night civil rights picketing will resume at a Brooklyn hospital site Thursday morning in defiance of a voluntary truce reached earlier by clergymen with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Clergymen called a halt to the 4-week racial demonstration at the Brooklyn site earlier Wednesday after Rockefeller pledged aid to Negroes in obtaining more construction jobs.

Advised of the developments, the Rev. William A. Jones Jr., spokesman for the Brooklyn clergymen who met with the governor, said:

"We have given the governor our words of honor. We shall abide by them. We shall not let a group of irresponsible persons cause us to betray our promise." He added:

"We have become the leaders of the people in this struggle and we intend to remain so."

26 To Sign Test Ban Thursday

Senate Slates Monday Start On Hearings

Washington (AP) — The new nuclear test ban treaty is thrown open to all nations Thursday and 19—led by Australia—are scheduled to sign here during the day.

President Kennedy also will send the treaty to the senate for ratification, accompanied by a special message Thursday, the White House announced. Hearings begin Monday.

Asst. White House Press Secretary Andrew Hatcher said he knew of no change in this plan although the President was summoned suddenly to Otis Air Force Base in Massachusetts where Mrs. Kennedy gave birth by caesarean section to their third child—a boy.

Trio Of Headon Crashes Claim 5 Lives

3 Dead, 9 Others Hospitalized In Waco Accident During Fog

...Californian Dies In Seward Mishap

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Waco—Four persons were killed and 13 others injured in two headon crashes on U.S. Highway 34 Wednesday morning.

Three lost their lives and 9 others, 8 of them children, were seriously or critically hurt in the 6 a.m. accident on the fog-shrouded road 3 miles east of Waco.

The dead:

The Rev. Werner Kuhlberg, 62, of Howells, pastor of St. John's Church in rural Stanton County.

Carola Kirch, 15 of Seward, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Martin Kirch. Dr. Kirch is dean of students at Concordia College. Miss Kirch was a passenger in the Kuhlberg car.

James E. Pappas, 41, of Fort Wayne, Ind., driver of the westbound car.

Taken to a York hospital were 4 Kuhlberg children—Nancy, 16, Bobby, 12, John, 10, and Jane 9—and a grandson, David Goetsch, 6, of Pasadena, Calif. The Rev. Mr. Kuhlberg and his passengers were reportedly returning from Estes Park, Colo.

In the Pappas car were the driver's wife, Katherine, 36, who is listed in extremely critical condition at a York hospital; and their 3 children, Mike, 11 Carrie, 9, and Effie, 8, all reported in serious to critical condition.

According to State Safety Patrolman N. L. McFall of York, who investigated the tragic accident, the Indiana car was attempting to pass a transport truck driven by Robert McClellan of Gretna when it collided headon with the eastbound Kuhlberg car in the eastbound traffic lane.

McClellan reported to York County Attorney David Keene that he saw the Indiana station wagon attempting to pass and it had reached about to the drive wheels of his truck. He said he then saw the headlights of the oncoming car and heard the brakes and the crash.

The truck driver returned to the scene to render aid. According to Keene, McClellan "did all that could be done."

A bus from the Lincoln Air Base came upon the scene shortly after the crash. Driver Cpl. J. W. Haliburton said he had to drive the bus into the ditch to keep from hitting the wrecked cars, but no one in the bus was injured.

Praises Helpers

Keene cited the "great aid" of Haliburton and his 9 passengers at the scene.

About 3½ hours later two miles east of Seward and about 18 miles east of the Waco crash, Mrs. Edna Lasker, 72, of Los Angeles was killed in a headon accident.

Her husband, Albert, is hospitalized in Seward but his condition is not reported to be critical.

Driver of the other car involved, Mr. Lorraine Shroeder, 39, of near Milford, and her two children, Nancy, 12, and Ronald, 10, were also hospitalized at Seward, but were not reported to be seriously injured.

49-Year-Old Fatally Hurt Near St. Paul

St. Paul (AP) —Mrs. Julius (Wilma) Wagner, 49, of near Wolbach, died in a St. Paul hospital Wednesday of injuries received a short time earlier in a highway crash.

The car in which Mrs. Wagner was traveling alone was in headon collision with a pickup truck driven by Glenn Kolar, 27, of Wolbach on U.S. 281 about 9 miles north of St. Paul.

Kolar was unhurt. He was driven to St. Paul after the accident by a relative, Mrs. Frances Kolar, whose car caught on fire as it reached town.

Mrs. Wagner, a former Howard County extension club chairman, is survived by her husband and two grown children.

It was Nebraska's 186th traffic death of the year—and 5th of the day. A year ago the traffic death toll stood at 196.

E. Johnson Loses Life As Tractor Flips

Niobrara (AP)—Elmer Johnson, about 45, who farms 3 miles west of Niobrara, died when the tractor he was driving in a field upset, threw him off into a ravine, and then rolled on him.

Johnson had been using the tractor to mow a field and when he didn't come home for dinner Tuesday night, a son, Merlin went to the field in search of him. He found Johnson under the tractor.

Survivors include his wife, 3 sons and a daughter.

Webb Selected

Oshkosh—Dean Webb has assumed his duties as president of the Oshkosh Lions Club, succeeding John Milanuk. Other officers include Don Fecht, second vice president; Dr. Duane Newman, secretary; Ed Wood, treasurer; Kent Fritz, tail twister; and Fay Wilson, Lion tamer.

Farm Price Index Up 14 Points From June

The mid-July Nebraska all farm commodity price index at 262 was up 6% or 14 points from mid-June, government statisticans reported.

The index was 3 points above July, 1962, and the highest since January, 1963.

The rise was reflected mostly in livestock products and corn, sorghum and hay. Prices for wheat, oats, barely and soybeans were lower than in June.

At 285, the all livestock and livestock products index was up 16 points from June and 4 points above a year ago.

The all crop price index of 199 rose six points from June, but remained two points under a year ago.

The average price received by farmers for cattle at $22.80 per hundredweight was $1.40 above June and 20 cents above a year ago. Calf prices rose 40 cents to reach $25.40 per hundredweight, a shade above June and the previous year.

At $17.10 per hundredweight, hogs reached the highest average since September, 1962, gaining $1.50 from June and 10 cents above a year ago.

Sheep averaged $5.30 in mid-July, compared with $5.10 in June and $4.90 a year ago. Lamb prices dropped $1, hitting $20.40.

Milk cows at $210 per head were at the same level as a year ago and $5 above June. Milk prices showed a gain, with wholesale milk reaching $3.45 per hundredweight and retail milk 19 cents per quart.

Egg prices were slightly higher than in June at 24.1 cents per dozen, compared with 23.8 cents in June.

Youngster Saved By Paperboys

Omaha (AP) — A trio of paperboys was credited Wednesday with saving the live of William Mayer, 2.

The older boys—Marvin Anderson 12, his brother, Edward, 10, and Don Keeton, 12—were on their way to pick up their papers Tuesday when they heard shouts at the rear of the Raymond Mayer home.

They saw flames shooting from a discarded car and found William inside.

They wrenched the door handle, operation of which was beyond the little boy's strength, and pulled him out. Edward Anderson suffered slight burns of the hand in the process.

Mrs. Mayer who had been doing the laundry had not heard her son's cries. The boy was treated for burns on body and face.

Arson investigator Dan Mulcahey credited the older boys with saving the life of William who, he said, apparently had gotten hold of some matches. They ignited a can of paint or paint thinner which had been stored in the car.

Refugee's Body Found

Chartres France (UPI)—The body of Hiep Tran, a 53-year-old refugee from Viet Nam, was found in a crude grave which he apparently had prepared himself. The police said Tran dug a hole, suspended a big crate containing earth over it, lay down in a coffin he made, then emptied the crate by pulling an elaborate set of strings he had rigged. Officers said Tran took a sedative before burying himself.

Platte's Fund Shortage Is Under Investigation

Lincoln Star Special

Columbus — Platte County Attorney C. Thomas White said Wednesday he has a full investigation under way into the fund shortages disclosed in the Platte County treasurer's office, and has as yet "no idea" when charges will be filed in the matter.

State Auditor Ray C. Johnson announced Tuesday that his examiners had uncovered fund shortages totaling more than $4,500 resulting from manipulation of real estate and personal property tax accounts.

Johnson asked the Platte County Board of Supervisors to direct the county attorney to conduct an investigation into the missing funds.

White has said he does not believe that County Treasurer Glenn D. Anderson is personally involved.

Johnson explained that the state audit revealed that some real estate and personal property tax accounts had been paid, but the funds were never entered in the daily cash records.

The audit showed that checks were received from taxpayers and fictitious receipts mailed back. The checks were deposited in the treasurer's account and the exact amount of cash apparently was taken from cash on hand at the office.

The discrepancies covered the period from December, 1961, to July, 1963, Johnson said.

The auditor's records show discrepancies of $379.24 on the 1960 tax rolls; $3,583.03 on the 1961 tax rolls, and $596.89 on the 1962 tax rolls. Another item of $53.18 will be added to the 1962 tax rolls through a manipulation which occurred June 15 of this year.

Boy Accidentally Becomes Tangled With Hose, Hangs

Des Moines (UPI) — A Des Moines boy accidentally hanged himself with a plastic garden hose while playing in a garage Wednesday.

The victim was identified as Timothy Osborne, 10, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Nile Osborn.

Authorities said the boy apparently slipped while standing on a table in the garage and became entangled in a hose hanging from a rafter.

The boy's body was found by an older brother, Bill, 12, who called to his two older sisters. The 3 cut the body down and attempted to administer artificial respiration.

Liquor And Beer Taxes Deductible

Omaha (UPI)—District Director Richard P. Vinal of the Internal Revenue Service announced that the taxes levied by the state of Nebraska on liquor and beer are now deductible by the consumer for federal income tax purposes.

The new state law which became effective June 1 of this year levies a tax of $1.60 a gallon on liquor and a tax of 6 cents a gallon on beer.

...Californian Dies In Seward Mishap

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Waco—Four persons were killed and 13 others injured in two headon crashes on U.S. Highway 34 Wednesday morning.

Three lost their lives and 9 others, 8 of them children, were seriously or critically hurt in the 6 a.m. accident on the fog-shrouded road 3 miles east of Waco.

The dead:

The Rev. Werner Kuhlberg, 62, of Howells, pastor of St. John's Church in rural Stanton County.

Carola Kirch, 15 of Seward, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Martin Kirch. Dr. Kirch is dean of students at Concordia College. Miss Kirch was a passenger in the Kuhlberg car.

James E. Pappas, 41, of Fort Wayne, Ind., driver of the westbound car.

Taken to a York hospital were 4 Kuhlberg children—Nancy, 16, Bobby, 12, John, 10, and Jane 9—and a grandson, David Goetsch, 6, of Pasadena, Calif. The Rev. Mr. Kuhlberg and his passengers were reportedly returning from Estes Park, Colo.

In the Pappas car were the driver's wife, Katherine, 36, who is listed in extremely critical condition at a York hospital; and their 3 children, Mike, 11 Carrie, 9, and Effie, 8, all reported in serious to critical condition.

According to State Safety Patrolman N. L. McFall of York, who investigated the tragic accident, the Indiana car was attempting to pass a transport truck driven by Robert McClellan of Gretna when it collided headon with the eastbound Kuhlberg car in the eastbound traffic lane.

McClellan reported to York County Attorney David Keene that he saw the Indiana station wagon attempting to pass and it had reached about to the drive wheels of his truck. He said he then saw the headlights of the oncoming car and heard the brakes and the crash.

The truck driver returned to the scene to render aid. According to Keene, McClellan "did all that could be done."

A bus from the Lincoln Air Base came upon the scene shortly after the crash. Driver Cpl. J. W. Haliburton said he had to drive the bus into the ditch to keep from hitting the wrecked cars, but no one in the bus was injured.

Praises Helpers

Keene cited the "great aid" of Haliburton and his 9 passengers at the scene.

About 3½ hours later two miles east of Seward and about 18 miles east of the Waco crash, Mrs. Edna Lasker, 72, of Los Angeles was killed in a headon accident.

Her husband, Albert, is hospitalized in Seward but his condition is not reported to be critical.

Driver of the other car involved, Mr. Lorraine Shroeder, 39, of near Milford, and her two children, Nancy, 12, and Ronald, 10, were also hospitalized at Seward, but were not reported to be seriously injured.

49-Year-Old Fatally Hurt Near St. Paul

St. Paul (AP) —Mrs. Julius (Wilma) Wagner, 49, of near Wolbach, died in a St. Paul hospital Wednesday of injuries received a short time earlier in a highway crash.

The car in which Mrs. Wagner was traveling alone was in headon collision with a pickup truck driven by Glenn Kolar, 27, of Wolbach on U.S. 281 about 9 miles north of St. Paul.

Kolar was unhurt. He was driven to St. Paul after the accident by a relative, Mrs. Frances Kolar, whose car caught on fire as it reached town.

Mrs. Wagner, a former Howard County extension club chairman, is survived by her husband and two grown children.

It was Nebraska's 186th traffic death of the year—and 5th of the day. A year ago the traffic death toll stood at 196.

E. Johnson Loses Life As Tractor Flips

Niobrara (AP)—Elmer Johnson, about 45, who farms 3 miles west of Niobrara, died when the tractor he was driving in a field upset, threw him off into a ravine, and then rolled on him.

Johnson had been using the tractor to mow a field and when he didn't come home for dinner Tuesday night, a son, Merlin went to the field in search of him. He found Johnson under the tractor.

Survivors include his wife, 3 sons and a daughter.

Webb Selected

Oshkosh—Dean Webb has assumed his duties as president of the Oshkosh Lions Club, succeeding John Milanuk. Other officers include Don Fecht, second vice president; Dr. Duane Newman, secretary; Ed Wood, treasurer; Kent Fritz, tail twister; and Fay Wilson, Lion tamer.

Farm Price Index Up 14 Points From June

The mid-July Nebraska all farm commodity price index at 262 was up 6% or 14 points from mid-June, government statisticans reported.

The index was 3 points above July, 1962, and the highest since January, 1963.

The rise was reflected mostly in livestock products and corn, sorghum and hay. Prices for wheat, oats, barely and soybeans were lower than in June.

At 285, the all livestock and livestock products index was up 16 points from June and 4 points above a year ago.

The all crop price index of 199 rose six points from June, but remained two points under a year ago.

The average price received by farmers for cattle at $22.-80 per hundredweight was $1.40 above June and 20 cents above a year ago. Calf prices rose 40 cents to reach $25.40 per hundredweight, a shade above June and the previous year.

At $17.10 per hundredweight, hogs reached the highest average since September, 1962, gaining $1.50 from June and 10 cents above a year ago.

Sheep averaged $5.30 in mid-July, compared with $5.10 in June and $4.90 a year ago. Lamb prices dropped $1, hitting $20.40.

Milk cows at $210 per head were at the same level as a year ago and $5 above June. Milk prices showed a gain, with wholesale milk reaching $3.45 per hundredweight and retail milk 19 cents per quart.

Egg prices were slightly higher than in June at 24.1 cents per dozen, compared with 23.8 cents in June.

To The Victors . . .

By FRANCIS X. BRENNAN

(Editor William O. Dobler is on vacation. Today's column is by UPI Writer Francis X. Brennan.)

The spoils system, the political plum ripened by Andrew Jackson, still flourishes in many states of the nation. But in no state is there much threat that the modern version of the spoils system could ever breed the same corruption it spread in the 19th Century, a check of state capitols shows. Jackson brought the spoils system to full flower when he loaded his administration with political followers upon entering the White House in 1829. At that time, Sen. William Learned Marcy protested on the floor of the Senate: "They see nothing wrong in the rule that to the victors belong the spoils of the enemy" —and thereby gave the spoils system a name. Presidents and politicians after Jackson played the spoils system game far more ruthlessly.

But while the spoils—or patronage—system is still common in American government, many steps have been taken to get it out of the governors' offices. Many states have introduced civil service or merit systems to cut into the governor's strength and deprive him of the power to hand out jobs. Despite the trend, the party faithful—no matter of which party—can still reap their reward for delivering the vote in most states. Nor is the spoils system unrespectable. Many governors heartily endorse it. New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a Republican and a firm believer of the patronage system, has said that those who work in politics have a right to take part in government when their political efforts succeed.

Not Without Respect

Gov. Matthew E. Welsh (D-Ind) said the patronage system "gives great vitality to our political parties." By the patronage system an administration "can assume major responsibility for the running of the government," Democratic Gov. William L. Guy of North Dakota said. "It is difficult to try to put into effect policies of your administration when you cannot appoint men to positions to carry out those policies whom you feel are both qualified and able to do the job."

★

Others denounce the system. Republican Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, whose state is considered to have the biggest spoils system in the nation, has openly criticized the Keystone State's patronage. Scranton said it wastes the governor's time, makes recruitment for state jobs difficult, disrupts long-term programs and "the possibility of favoritism and corruption is all too present when semi-judicial agencies . . . are staffed by persons chosen because of service to the party."

Among states with large patronage systems are Mississippi, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Arkansas, Alabama, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Alaska, Wyoming, West Virginia, Tennessee, Connecticut, New York, New Mexico and Virginia. States where patronage handouts are practically nil include Iowa, Rhode Island, Oklahoma, Michigan, California, Maine, Missouri, Texas, Delaware, Minnesota, South Carolina, Colorado, Washington and Arizona. Other states generally fall into the category of being in-between strong and weak patronage systems.

Mississippi is one of the states in which the patronage or spoils system is a time-honored custom. The governor has wide power and many heads roll each time the administration changes. Although the spoils system gives Gov. Ross Barnett great power while in office, these political bon-bons are of no use for re-election because the governor cannot succeed himself in office.

In Connecticut, where the governor and the party in power get all the marbles, the biggest plum used to be insurance patronage. But the 1963 legislature plucked the fruit following a probe and hearings launched by a group of Republicans. The hearings brought out that both parties handed out commissions on state insurance policies to sub-agents friendly to the party in power. The total for about the last 14 years ran into the millions of dollars, but recent legislation curbed any similar set-up.

Civil service is one of the most controversial issues in the Pennsylvania Commonwealth, which now doles out about 50,000 jobs under patronage. Scranton's administration hopes to put 20,000 jobs under civil service, but his program faces tough sledding through the legislature.

The spoils system also is a sore spot in New Mexico. The 1961 legislature passed the first effective personnel act in state history but left loopholes. Although the 1963 legislature handled a patch job to make it stronger, the politicos have found ingenious ways to get their friends into state jobs. State jobs have always been a prime source of employment for the distressed but politically powerful area of northern New Mexico which is 75 per cent Spanish. The new legislation has bewildered people of the area who can't understand why no jobs are available in the capitol.

Wilkinson For Senator

Rumors persist that Oklahoma's football coach, Bud Wilkinson, may soon forsake the gridiron for politics. There is a strong ground swell to send him to the U.S. Senate. An earlier boom that would have run him for governor seems to have subsided.

The Oklahoma City Oklahoman says, "As a Republican candidate, Wilkinson would have the advantage of being able to stand aside while J. Howard Edmondson, former governor who is now a senator, and his Democratic adversary, Fred Harris, clobbered each other in the party's primary campaign. Whatever Democratic support either one of them was able to attract away from the other might readily go to Wilkinson in the general election."

Wilkinson, presently a Democrat, would have to readjust his political stance, but a coach who was adroit enough to switch from single wing to split-T and still win, should have no trouble running from a Republican half back spot.

Mr. Wilkinson would have strong points as a senator. He is no more uninformed than the average politician and has a much keener sense of citizen desire —which is to win. As a coach he has been eminently able to satisfy that desire. As an arch recruiter of competent athletes he should be able to provide Washington with effective appointees. As a strategist he could be very helpful to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He could show it how to pick up a satisfying number of quick touchdowns against the Reds.

But the most appealing thing about electing a successful football coach is a new conception of winning. The average politician thinks it most important that he, not the constituents, win. Mr. Wilkinson has always won for the constituents.

Nebraska should be for his candidacy. Should he start winning too much in the Senate, we also have an effective coach in Bob Devaney. We could send him in to divert half the loot to our state.

Enthusiasm Waning

The Rev. Billy Hargiss, himself, is authority for the statement that his radical rightist crusade is running out of gas.

He told followers recently in Oklahoma City that the circulation of his monthly magazine is half what it was. Reduced income has cut his staff from 50 to 25 and forced a 10 per cent pay reduction on the survivors. The headquarters building has been sold.

The movement's college in Colorado is still doing business but Hargiss's plans for an outsize cathedral have gone back on the shelf.

At peak of popularity the Hargiss movement attracted contributions reaching $800,000 a year.

The Hargiss mission began some 17 years ago as an evangelistic movement for Christian fundamentalism. But it made the big time when its founder embraced militant anti-communism. He was able to make a great number of people breath hard, but like so many crusades the harvest of exposed and punished communists was microscopic. More badly injured was the country's own capacity for constructive liberalism which may have been the prime target in the first place. Another liability was his capacity for setting neighbor against neighbor. The country has too much of that now and is to be reminded of the totalitarian doctrine that the way to prevail is to divide and destroy the opposition.

Promoting American division is a prime aim of Red subversion. It is sad when American radicals of any persuasion perform that function gratuitously.

Going Into Business

Marvin J. Briggs has been a national figure in the farm cooperative movement 40 years. For 32 years he was manager of the Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, one of the largest and most successful in the nation.

These facts lend credibility to his assertion that the farm of the future will require a capital outlay of $150,000 and contain 400 to 600 acres. This was his advice to the 35th annual convention here of the American Institute of Cooperation.

Past experience bears out Briggs' prediction. If it differs it is in a matter of degree, placing him on the conservative side. Versatile power equipment is presently at hand to make a 400 acre cattle feeding, feed grain complex operable by one man.

The sticker today is the capital requirement. It is the exceptional young farmer who can scare up the $150,000 needed to get started. But Briggs asserts that credit will become increasingly available.

The effect of this will minimize the planter instinct which makes a man prefer farming to all else. But it will magnify managerial capacity. The trend indicates that farming is on the threshold of going into business.

This will mean a modification of traditional education in agriculture with increasing weight on business and management and greater reliance on the laboratory for methods and techniques.

There may be a form of salvation in that kind of farming, a less doctrinaire approach to price-cost and production control which must give way to the cold realities of the operating statement. But it is apt to be the end of a rustic society which has loved a good way of life more than money.

Hint Conflict Of Interest In Grant

Editor's Note: Drew Pearson has gone abroad to interview world leaders and report on the prospects for peace. The Washington scene is covered by his associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON—The Public Health Service, with a furtive backward glance at the taxpayers, has just slipped $100,800 to the American Pharmaceutical Association to study how pharmacies can serve as community health centers.

The association's executive director, William Apple, will also help the University of Pittsburgh spend another $221,057 of the taxpayers' money to study drug costs and uses.

By a curious coincidence, the Public Health Service's pharmacy chief, Dr. George Archambault, happened to be doubling in brass as President of the American Pharmaceutical Association while both grants were being processed.

He acknowledged to this column that, as APhA president, he had set up the committee which requested the $100,800 handout. Wearing his other hat, as PHS pharmacy chief, he had been consulted informally about the grant.

But he insisted that he had nothing to do with the final decision to award the money.

Dr. Archambault defended the decision, however, as "wonderful for the public." The money would be spent, he said, to make public health information available to people at their neighborhood pharmacies.

Wasting no time, APhA has already put its communications director, George Griffenhagen, on the taxpayers' payroll at $12,000 a year to get the program started.

Critics have questioned whether APhA is interested in benefiting the public or the pharmacies. Turning pharmacies into public health centers, they point out, will also lure customers into the drugstores.

On an earlier occasion, APhA suppressed news of counterfeit drugs in order to protect the pharmacies from losing business. Director Apple brought pressure upon the Armstrong Cork Company to cancel a TV show, exposing how counterfeit pills and powders were being peddled to the public.

Note—The Public Health Service has kept strangely silent about the APhA grant. A PHS spokesman claimed that the APhA application was a "privileged communication" though it dealt with public money. This column learned, however, that the grant was applied for in March, two months before Dr. Archambault retired as APhA president.

Most Fashion Habits Are Lunacy But We're Hooked

NEW YORK — The other day, it being miserably hot, I ventured out on the streets of New York without my ever-present white gloves.

Well, at first it felt wonderful. No soggy, graying little parcels of cotton or kid to clutch. No unnecessary nuisances to switch to the other hand when I had to mete out my bus fare. No grime-sodden appurtenances of society to pick up out of the gutter where they'd dropped. I was a lighthearted non-conformist. Look, ma, no handsful.

But embarrassment slowly crept over me. Went to a restaurant for lunch and felt guilty: Everybody was looking at me, thinking how ill-groomed I was. Went to a department store afterward and nobody would wait on me. Were they really busy, or did they think I was just below notice? I began to feel that being nude in the hands was just as conspicuous as being nude all over.

And did I ever resent it!

As I stopped in the five-and-dime store to pick up a pair of stretch white gloves (it doesn't matter what quality a glove is—just so you have it with you), I said to myself:

Who is the joker who made me feel so guilty because I was only doing what came naturally and sensibly?

☆ ☆ ☆

Wearing gloves in summer is the most foolish fashion ever conceived and perpetrated on womanhood by a diabolical French glovemaker.

A woman can be dressed sans girdle, sans hose, sans hat. She can venture out without lipstick, wearing a dress that only a lifetime nudist could look at, unblinking. Her shoes can be nothing but a thin shield between her foot and the pavement.

Yet she must wear or carry a pair of overcoats for her sticky hot hands. Otherwise, she is not quite properly dressed.

It is the most idiotic fashion notion to be pushed upon us ladies since the hooped skirt. Matter of fact, the hooped skirt wasn't too bad. It was eye-fulfilling, and you could get a nice draft under it on a simmering day.

I don't know who it was really invented this untrue truism—that Nice Girls Always wear white gloves. None of my fashion friends know either. They only say, "don't knock it. The glove industry would be furious."

Actually, it's too late to knock it. I'm hooked. I've been wearing, and washing out, gloves since I was of an age for ruining white doeskins with mustard off of hot dogs. When you've lived with lunacy most of your life, it's hard to kick the habit.

But I resent it . . . almost as much as a man must resent having to wear a jacket to his office or a restaurant, in order to be considered a "gentleman." On a day like this, how much gentler he would feel in a sport shirt.

Someone once wrote a book called "Fashion is Spinach."

In summer, that is an understatement.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: I've always heard that a person who is emotionally or mentally ill is the last to realize it. Yet I feel deeply that there is something wrong in my own make-up. I find myself being childishly malicious at times in my dealings with my children. One son in particular sets off these reactions constantly. While I realize I'm wrong at the time, I can't seem to help myself. I don't want my children to be made into emotional wrecks by their mother.—MRS. D. R.

Dr. Molner

You are far from being the only mother with such feelings, and I strongly doubt that you are verging on a mental collapse of any kind.

Mental illness, after all, can be fairly well summed up as a means of escaping from some situation with which the patient just cannot cope.

For various reasons (on occasion physical and others perhaps purely a matter of inherent strength or weakness, attitude toward life, and upbringing) some people can withstand much more pressure than others. And I dare say nearly all of us can withstand more than we thought, if we have faith in our ability to keep trying.

You didn't tell me anything about the youngster who touches off your explosions. Maybe he's an imp with too much energy and a bigger-than-average slice of mischief in him.

Try to analyze exactly what it is that annoys you. If his behavior isn't too malicious, undoubtedly it will change as time passes. Perhaps you should keep that youngster busier. Do it subtly, of course, so he won't feel that he is being picked on. Perhaps you can make a point of asking him to "help" you with things—things he'll find to be fun, like licking a cake spoon or some small chore that emphasizes his responsibility, and hence his importance.

And another thought which may be very important. Are you getting some recreation outside the home? Even an occasional show, dinner in a restaurant, or a visit with friends can be a wonderful and necessary tension-breaker.

With a family of youngsters to bring up, any mother can fall into the habit of staying too close to home all the time. Unending responsibility can make it into a prison, and you automatically rebel.

Get away from it occasionally, even for just a few hours, and see if the experience doesn't give you a new perspective.

Dear Dr. Molner: My three-year-old son has not gained weight for six months, and has a poor appetite. Sometimes I tint his hair. Can that be harming his health?—E.R.

I doubt if the tinting hurts him physically, but I'd stop doing it. Why would you tint a three-year-old boy's hair? It raises in my mind a suspicion that in this and perhaps other ways you may be trying to bring up this lad as if he were a girl. That's bad for him emotionally, and may upset his appetite among other things. He's a boy. Treat him like one.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has an ulcer. He smokes cigarettes almost continuously. He can leave home seemingly O. K. and then return in an hour in a bad condition. You would think he is dying. He also has terrible headaches just as suddenly. Doctors say it is nerves. Advice, please, so I can help him more.—Mrs. Q. R.

There's not much you can do if he won't help himself. He sounds like a very tense individual. Sedatives and tranquilizers are an aid for this type. The biggest factor in ulcer care is to change attitudes and habits for the better. It's up to him to control himself: both his smoking and his nerves.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: What is a pedunculated epithelial growth? I have had a stubborn one in my mouth which has been cauterized but is growing again. Is cancer possible?—E. F.

Epithelial refers to the cells of the outer lining—the skin, or, in this case, the lining of the mouth. Pedunculated means attached to a stem-like structure.

It's sort of a mushroom-like growth.

Many such are benign. Some are malignant. Since this one recurs after having been cauterized, surgical removal might be wise. Malignancy would be determined by a biopsy or microscopic study.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

The industrious bees, well organized
Have thrived throughout the ages.
And never have asked to be subsidized
Nor bargained for higher wages.

As diligent, peaceable social groups
They lead community lives;
But woe betide those misdemeanors
Who dare attack their hives!

When enemies sound their warning whistle
Our bees keep perfectly calm,
For each is equipped with a guided missile
That excels the atomic bomb!

No Complaints

Blair, Neb.

One has to face death to become philosophical about position and money. Unfortunately this strange feeling is short-lived and transient. A truism: A rich man displaces no more dirt in the earth than a poor one — a human dynamo, no more than a drone. Each is soon forgotten after death.

I can well remember the depression days of the late 20s and early 30s. I was fresh out of the University of Nebraska and wanted to work but couldn't find any. I wasn't paying any taxes then, nor were many others. I swore a solemn vow then that if and when I ever made enough money to pay taxes, I'd pay them without complaint — and I have kept this vow.

It might be an unpleasant thought to some, but let's face it. There isn't a man, woman or child in this wonderful nation of ours who doesn't receive some part of everything they have from the heavy government expenditures which are made. We prate and strut and bluster about "free enterprise" and being self-made men, etc., but making much of what we are and have, over the past 30 years, has been big government.

Surely many of us are always fearful of losing this good thing, but surely we can find a little more time to relax and enjoy it while it is here, without carping, criticism, hate and prejudice.

Grandpa Says

Guide Rock, Neb.

I see by the papers that Congress is going to try its hand at putting off the rail strike.

Grandpa says, he sure hopes it ain't too late to offer suggestions, on account of he thinks he has a way to settle the strike and pay off the national debt at the same time.

Grandpa says, if the government would take over the railroads like they did once before, all the problems would take care of themselves. He bases this claim on what happened the last time the government run the railroads. He says that time, the railroads managed to be inefficient enough to take up all the surplus manpower them firemen are worryin' about.

Grandpa says, then we would fire all them vice presidents that work for the railroad now, and turn their salaries over to retirin' the national debt.

Grandpa admits that would put them vice presidents on the unemployed list, but he says he ain't ever talked to a railroad man that didn't figure the V.P.'s were already the most unemployed people in the country.

Congressional Action Needed On Turncoats

WASHINGTON — Why should GI turncoats who deliberately choose the enemy over America be permitted to retain their U.S. citizenship?

Lowell D. Skinner, a Korean War turncoat who refused to be repatriated in the prison-exchange — preferring to cast his lot with the Red Chinese — is now fed up with his "lack of individual freedom" in the the communist utopia. Leaving his partially paralyzed Chinese wife behind, he is preparing, after ten years as a factory worker in Tsinan, to return to Akron, Ohio.

Other Americans have lost their citizenship for much less nauseous offenses. Under the law, an American living abroad automatically forfeits his U.S. citizen if he votes in a local election, or enters the armed forces of that nation, even if it is our ally.

No such harsh treatment awaits Skinner and his fellow turncoats, some 13 of whom have already come wandering back.

Another way to lose U.S. citizenship is to be court-martialed for desertion. Skinner and his turncoat buddies were still in the Army when they refused repatriation. Isn't that one form of desertion? If so, why weren't they courtmartialed at the time?

A top legal spokesman for the Justice Department, in discussing the question, declared: "It could be called an 'omission' in the immigration and naturalization law. Only Congress can correct it." Surely it's about time!

Is it necessary to clutter outer space with so much man-made junk that by the time satellites are ready to carry payloads to other planets, the collision risk will be too great?

Joint aerospace defense headquarters reveals that some 700 pieces of junk broken off from our space vehicles are now circling the earth. Within four years, the heavenly wastebasket is expected to hold many times as much litter, with thousands of nuts and bolts merrily chasing each other in nearly perpetual orbit.

Going Into Business

Marvin J. Briggs has been a national figure in the farm cooperative movement 40 years. For 32 years he was manager of the Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, one of the largest and most successful in the nation.

These facts lend credibility to his assertion that the farm of the future will require a capital outlay of $150,000 and contain 400 to 600 acres. This was his advice to the 35th annual convention here of the American Institute of Cooperation.

Past experience bears out Briggs' prediction. If it differs it is in a matter of degree, placing him on the conservative side. Versatile power equipment is presently at hand to make a 400 acre cattle feeding, feed grain complex operable by one man.

The sticker today is the capital requirement. It is the exceptional young farmer who can scare up the $150,000 needed to get started. But Briggs asserts that credit will become increasingly available.

The effect of this will minimize the planter instinct which makes a man prefer farming to all else. But it will magnify managerial capacity. The trend indicates that farming is on the threshold of going into business.

This will mean a modification of traditional education in agriculture with increasing weight on business and management and greater reliance on the laboratory for methods and techniques.

There may be a form of salvation in that kind of farming, a less doctrinaire approach to price-cost and production control which must give way to the cold realities of the operating statement. But it is apt to be the end of a rustic society which has loved a good way of life more than money.

Hint Conflict Of Interest In Grant

Editor's Note: Drew Pearson has gone abroad to interview world leaders and report on the prospects for peace. The Washington scene is covered by his associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON—The Public Health Service, with a furtive backward glance at the taxpayers, has just slipped $100,800 to the American Pharmaceutical Association to study how pharmacies can serve as community health centers.

The association's executive director, William Apple, will also help the University of Pittsburgh spend another $221,057 of the taxpayers' money to study drug costs and uses.

By a curious coincidence, the Public Health Service's pharmacy chief, Dr. George Archambault, happened to be doubling in brass as President of the American Pharmaceutical Association while both grants were being processed.

☆ ☆ ☆

He acknowledged to this column that, as APhA president, he had set up the committee which requested the $100,800 handout. Wearing his other hat, as PHS pharmacy chief, he had been consulted informally about the grant.

But he insisted that he had nothing to do with the final decision to award the money.

Dr. Archambault defended the decision, however, as "wonderful for the public." The money would be spent, he said, to make public health information available to people at their neighborhood pharmacies.

Wasting no time, APhA has already put its communications director, George Griffenhagen, on the taxpayers' payroll at $12,000 a year to get the program started.

Critics have questioned whether APhA is interested in benefiting the public or the pharmacies. Turning pharmacies into public health centers, they point out, will also lure customers into the drugstores.

On an earlier occasion, APhA suppressed news of counterfeit drugs in order to protect the pharmacies from losing business. Director Apple brought pressure upon the Armstrong Cork Company to cancel a TV show, exposing how counterfeit pills and powders were being peddled to the public.

Note—The Public Health Service has kept strangely silent about the APhA grant. A PHS spokesman claimed that the APhA application was a "privileged communication" though it dealt with public money. This column learned, however, that the grant was applied for in March, two months before Dr. Archambault retired as APhA president.

Most Fashion Habits Are Lunacy But We're Hooked

NEW YORK — The other day, it being miserably hot, I ventured out on the streets of New York without my ever-present white gloves.

Well, at first it felt wonderful. No soggy, graying little parcels of cotton or kid to clutch. No unnecessary nuisances to switch to the other hand when I had to mete out my bus fare. No grime-sodden appurtenances of society to pick up out of the gutter where they'd dropped. I was a lighthearted non-conformist. Look, ma, no handsful.

But embarrassment slowly crept over me. Went to a restaurant for lunch and felt gulity: Everybody was looking at me, thinking how ill-groomed I was. Went to a department store afterward and nobody would wait on me. Were they really busy, or did they think I was just below notice? I began to feel that being nude in the hands was just as conspicuous as being nude all over.

And did I ever resent it!

As I stopped in the five-and-dime store to pick up a pair of stretch white gloves (it doesn't matter what quality a glove is—just so you have it with you), I said to myself:

Who is the joker who made me feel so guilty because I was only doing what came naturally and sensibly?

☆ ☆ ☆

Wearing gloves in summer is the most foolish fashion ever conceived and perpetrated on womanhood by a diabolical French glovemaker.

A woman can be dressed sans girdle, sans hose, sans hat. She can venture out without lipstick, wearing a dress that only a lifetime nudist could look at, unblinking. Her shoes can be nothing but a thin shield between her foot and the pavement.

Yet she must wear or carry a pair of overcoats for her sticky hot hands. Otherwise, she is not quite properly dressed.

It is the most idiotic fashion notion to be pushed upon us ladies since the hooped skirt. Matter of fact, the hooped skirt wasn't too bad. It was eye-fulfilling, and you could get a nice draft under it on a simmering day.

I don't know who it was really invented this untrue truism—that Nice Girls Always wear white gloves. None of my fashion friends know either. They only say, "don't knock it. The glove industry would be furious."

Actually, it's too late to knock it. I'm hooked. I've been wearing, and washing out, gloves since I was of an age for ruining white doeskins with mustard off of hot dogs. When you've lived with lunacy most of your life, it's hard to kick the habit.

But I resent it . . . almost as much as a man must resent having to wear a jacket to his office or a restaurant, in order to be considered a "gentleman." On a day like this, how much gentler he would feel in a sport shirt.

Someone once wrote a book called "Fashion is Spinach."

In summer, that is an understatement.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: I've always heard that a person who is emotionally or mentally ill is the last to realize it. Yet I feel deeply that there is something wrong in my own make-up. I find myself being childishly malicious at times in my dealings with my children. One son in particular sets off these reactions constantly. While I realize I'm wrong at the time, I can't seem to help myself. I don't want my children to be made into emotional wrecks by their mother.—MRS. D. R.

Dr. Molner

You are far from being the only mother with such feelings, and I strongly doubt that you are verging on a mental collapse of any kind.

Mental illness, after all, can be fairly well summed up as a means of escaping from some situation with which the patient just cannot cope.

For various reasons (on occasion physical and others perhaps purely a matter of inherent strength or weakness, attitude toward life, and upbringing) some people can withstand much more pressure than others. And I dare say nearly all of us can withstand more than we thought, if we have faith in our ability to keep trying.

You didn't tell me anything about the youngster who touches off your explosions. Maybe he's an imp with too much energy and a bigger-than-average slice of mischief in him.

Try to analyze exactly what it is that annoys you. If his behavior isn't too malicious, undoubtedly it will change as time passes. Perhaps you should keep that youngster busier. Do it subtly, of course, so he won't feel that he is being picked on. Perhaps you can make a point of asking him to "help" you with things—things he'll find to be fun, like licking a cake spoon or some small chore that emphasizes his responsibility, and hence his importance.

And another thought which may be very important. Are you getting some recreation outside the home? Even an occasional show, dinner in a restaurant, or a visit with friends can be a wonderful and necessary tension-breaker.

With a family of youngsters to bring up, any mother can fall into the habit of staying too close to home all the time. Unending responsibility can make it into a prison, and you automatically rebel.

Get away from it occasionally, even for just a few hours, and see if the experience doesn't give you a new perspective.

Dear Dr. Molner: My three-year-old son has not gained weight for six months, and has a poor appetite. Sometimes I tint his hair. Can that be harming his health?—E.R.

I doubt if the tinting hurts him physically, but I'd stop doing it. Why would you tint a three-year-old boy's hair? It raises in my mind a suspicion that in this and perhaps other ways you may be trying to bring up this lad as if he were a girl. That's bad for him emotionally, and may upset his appetite among other things. He's a boy. Treat him like one.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has an ulcer. He smokes cigarettes almost continuously. He can leave home seemingly O. K. and then return in an hour in a bad condition. You would think he is dying. He also has terrible headaches just as suddenly. Doctors say it is nerves. Advice, please, so I can help him more.—Mrs. Q. R.

There's not much you can do if he won't help himself. He sounds like a very tense individual. Sedatives and tranquilizers are an aid for this type. The biggest factor in ulcer care is to change attitudes and habits for the better. It's up to him to control himself: both his smoking and his nerves.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Molner: What is a pedunculated epithelial growth? I have had a stubborn one in my mouth which has been cauterized but is growing again. Is cancer possible?—E. F.

Epithelial refers to the cells of the outer lining—the skin, or, in this case, the lining of the mouth. Pedunculated means attached to a stem-like structure.

It's sort of a mushroom-like growth.

Many such are benign. Some are malignant. Since this one recurs after having been cauterized, surgical removal might be wise. Malignancy would be determined by a biopsy or microscopic study.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

The industrious bees, well organized
Have thrived throughout the ages,
And never have asked to be subsidized
Nor bargained for higher wages.

As diligent, peaceable social groups
They lead community lives;
But woe betide those nincompoops
Who dare attack their hives!

When enemies sound their warning whistle
Our bees keep perfectly calm,
For each is equipped with a guided missile
That excels the atomic bomb!

Blair, Neb.

One has to face death to become philosophical about position and money. Unfortunately this strange feeling is short-lived and transient. A truism: A rich man displaces no more dirt in the earth than a poor one — a human dynamo, no more than a drone. Each is soon forgotten after death.

I can well remember the depression days of the late 20s and early 30s. I was fresh out of the University of Nebraska and wanted to work but couldn't find any. I wasn't paying any taxes then, nor were many others. I swore a solemn vow then that if and when I ever made enough money to pay taxes, I'd pay them without complaint — and I have kept this vow.

It might be an unpleasant thought to some, but let's face it. There isn't a man, woman or child in this wonderful nation of ours who doesn't receive some part of everything they have from the heavy government expenditures which are made. We prate and strut and bluster about "free enterprise" and being self-made men, etc., but making much of what we are and have, over the past 30 years, has been big government.

Surely many of us are always fearful of losing this good thing, but surely we can find a little more time to relax and enjoy it while it is here, without carping, criticism, hate and prejudice.

Grandpa Says

Guide Rock, Neb.

I see by the papers that Congress is going to try its hand at putting off the rail strike.

Grandpa says, he sure hopes it ain't too late to offer suggestions, on account of he thinks he has a way to settle the strike and pay off the national debt at the same time.

Grandpa says, if the government would take over the railroads like they did once before, all the problems would take care of themselves. He bases this claim on what happened the last time the government run the railroads. He says that time, the railroads managed to be inefficient enough to take up all the surplus manpower them firemen are worryin' about.

Grandpa says, then we would fire all them vice presidents that work for the railroad now, and turn their salaries over to retirin' the national debt.

Grandpa admits that would put them vice presidents on the unemployed list, but he says he ain't ever talked to a railroad man that didn't figure the V.P.'s were already the most unemployed people in the country.

Congressional Action Needed On Turncoats

WASHINGTON — Why should GI turncoats who deliberately choose the enemy over America be permitted to retain their U.S. citizenship?

Lowell D. Skinner, a Korean War turncoat who refused to be repatriated in the prison-exchange — preferring to cast his lot with the Red Chinese — is now fed up with his "lack of individual freedom" in the the communist utopia. Leaving his partially paralyzed Chinese wife behind, he is preparing, after ten years as a factory worker in Tsinan, to return to Akron, Ohio.

Other Americans have lost their citizenship for much less nauseous offenses. Under the law, an American living abroad automatically forfeits his U.S. citizen if he votes in a local election, or enters the armed forces of that nation, even if it is our ally.

No such harsh treatment awaits Skinner and his fellow turncoats, some 13 of whom have already come wandering back.

Another way to lose U.S. citizenship is to be court-martialed for desertion. Skinner and his turncoat buddies were still in the Army when they refused repatriation. Isn't that one form of desertion? If so, why weren't they courtmartialed at the time?

A top legal spokesman for the Justice Department, in discussing the question, declared: "It could be called an 'omission' in the immigration and naturalization law. Only Congress can correct it." Surely it's about time!

Is it necessary to clutter outer space with so much man-made junk that by the time satellites are ready to carry payloads to other planets, the collision risk will be too great?

Joint aerospace defense headquarters reveals that some 700 pieces of junk broken off from our space vehicles are now circling the earth. Within four years, the heavenly wastebasket is expected to hold many times as much litter, with thousands of nuts and bolts merrily chasing each other in nearly perpetual orbit.

Scientists aver that if a meteor knocked out Telstar-2, it was little larger than a speck of dust. Think what a loose screw could therefore do to an astronaut!

Fun Becomes Less Expensive With Advancing Years

By ROBERT PETERSON

An old chestnut says, "Fun is like insurance—the older you get the more it costs." But don't believe it. Add up the pros and cons and you'll find it's less expensive to have fun when you're old because by then you've got a better sense of values and are less concerned with costly gadgetry.

You're no longer fascinated by the latest fashions, newest cars, hi-fi sets, posh restaurants, and other standard status symbols revered by the impressionable young and middle-aged.

Instead, you awaken to the refreshing fact that man's keenest delights derive from the basic comforts, health, observation of nature, creative activities, and camaraderie with a few congenial friends. And this kind of delight costs little or nothing.

Speaking of friends, here's a note from a retired lawyer of 72 saying, "Last month I got to thinking about an old classmate with whom I've exchanged Yule cards but whom I hadn't seen in years. I began figuring the elapsed time since we'd been together and was astounded to find it had been 27 years. He lived only 150 miles away, so I phoned and said I was coming over to join him for lunch the next day.

"The following morning I got in my car, arrived at his place at noon, and we spent a wonderful three hours together. When I got home I told my wife the reunion was one of the pleasantest incidents in my life. He wrote me a day or so later expressing similar sentiments. Today I picked up the paper and read that he had passed on. That's life. We shouldn't wait too long to enjoy the friendships with which we are blessed."

Fine letter. Probably we all have friends or acquaintances living just a few hours away whom we profess to cherish but whom we haven't bothered to visit for years. Let's not wait too long.

When it comes to annual vacations, it's my observation that women prefer a lengthy vacation — going to one place and staying put. Men, on the other hand, prefer two or three shorter vacations—and enjoy moving around.

It's probably because men are tied more rigidly to their occupations, and are less accustomed to using leisure time. We relish a short vacation which gives us a change of scene. But after 5 or 6 days we grow fidgety. We contemplate the work piling up back at the office or plant and yearn to get back in harness.

Last Fall I tried to get my wife to fly along with me on a 4-day junket to Ireland. But she said it appalled her to think of going such a distance for such a short stay. So I went by myself and had a great time. She figured I must have been up to some mischief when I returned home and reported that 4 days of intensive travel and new experiences gave me greater satisfaction and refreshment than the 4 solid weeks we spent on our last vacation encamped at a ranch in the Big Horn Mountains

Nebraskans Good Hosts—AIC Officials

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

The near 3,000 persons attending general sessions and sectional meetings surpassed all former records of attendance in the 35-year history of the American Institute of Cooperation, officials said Wednesday as they credited Nebraskans with a "well done job of being host."

Outstate cooperative leaders were outspoken in their appreciation to the University of Nebraska and to the Nebraska Cooperative leaders for, "putting on the best Institute ever held."

At the traditional Farm Credit Luncheon, held Wednesday and attended by the farm credit leaders of the 12 national districts, farm credit leaders were identified by their governor, R. B. Tootell of the Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D.C., as specialist in agricultural credit, and unique in that they don't do another thing but service the farmer and rancher."

Governor Tootell told farm credit men that the coming fiscal year "looks like a 10 to 12% increase in volume." Outstanding loans made by the Farm Credit Administration total $6.3 billion, an increase of nearly $1 billion over a year previous.

"We must plan ahead to meet the challenge to change with a rapidly changing agriculture," said Governor Tootell.

He asked his farm credit representatives to "be real consultants to agriculture needs in loaning money, instead of being just money lenders."

"I am not counseling you not to have losses, but when you have them be sure they are the result of really reaching out to do the job for agriculture, not just competing to get another loan," said Tootell.

The important role of the board of directors was discussed by Institute members at the Wednesday general session.

"A corporation is a complex of decision centers, but the board of directors is the one which is central and superior to all others," said Dr. Leon Garoian, market managing specialist, Oregon State University.

Garoian warned against selecting directors either on a popularity contest, or as a means of bestowing recognition to a long-time cooperative member.

Millions In New Estate Tax Liability OKd In Ways, Means Committee

Washington (UPI) — The House Ways & Means Committee voted Wednesday to levy millions of dollars in new tax liability on the heirs of big estates left by persons who die in 1965 and thereafter.

The proposal would apply only to those estates which include securities and other property which has risen in market value during the life of the previous owner.

Under present law the tax liability for these "paper profits" is wiped out with the death of the owner. When and if the heir sells the property, he need pay a capital gains tax only on profits which result from gains in market value after the previous owner died.

Tax On Some

The proposal adopted by the committee would require the heir—when and if he sells the property—to pay a capital gains tax on some of the previous "paper profits."

The committee on a 14-11 vote nailed the legislation into the final version of the big tax-revision-and-reduction program that it is drafting.

Kennedy's plan, designed to yield $700 million in new revenue, would have required the heir to pay capital gains tax on much of the "paper profits" upon the death of the owner, even if the heir did not sell the property.

Under $100 Million

The compromise which the committee had tentatively approved earlier would have produced about $400 million in annual new revenue. The final version adopted Wednesday would yield considerably less than $100 million.

The broad new tax rules which were finally approved were pockmarked with exceptions and exemptions calculated to lessen opposition.

Man's Offer To Donate Liver To Scottsbluff Infant Rejected

Denver (UPI) — A 51-year-old Denver man wanted to donate his liver to save a 10-month-old-girl's life Wednesday, but he was turned down by hospital officials.

Apparently the unidentified man was not aware that he would die without his liver, a Colorado General Hospital spokesman said.

The child, Nancy Joanne Schuldies of Scottsbluff, Neb., may die unless a transplant operation is performed soon. But first a donor must be located.

Only a child who dies of another illness would be an eligible donor. The donor would have to be a boy or girl no older than 3.

The would-be donor told doctors, "I've already willed my eyes to the eye bank and I'd like to give my liver to that little girl."

No Ducts

Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Schuldies. She was born with a ductless liver. The ducts are the canals which transport body fluids.

Meanwhile, hospital officials reported several other transplant patients being treated here were in satisfactory condition.

Val Austin Williams, 25, a Colorado state penitentiary inmate, was being evaluated to determine if he can donate one of his kidneys to a 16-year-old Oklahoma boy.

Two recent kidney transplant subjects, Darthea Marie Stanton, 15, of Bedford, Tex., and 6-year-old Larry David Sern, of Houston, were recovering.

Marchers Plan To Avoid Trouble

Washington (AP)—Negro leaders and Washington police said Wednesday all precautions are being taken to prevent violence of disorder at the massive Aug. 28 civil rights march here.

"Certainly the people are not coming here to do something that would discredit their own movement," said A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and director of the march.

Randolph made a ringing speech to some 60 or 70 congressmen gathered in a conference room at the capitol.

To the members of Congress who must handle civil rights legislation he said

"I appeal to you that the time is short; it is later than anybody thinks. The Negroes will not continue to submit to humiliation, regardless of the costs . . . even if it costs their lives."

Randolph told reporters later that plans had been made for a counter-filibuster in Washington churches if a filibuster develops in the Senate over civil rights legislation

1,000 Persons

"We plan to bring 1,000 persons to Washington for a round-the-clock educational filibuster," he said. Speakers would include lawyers, ministers, social workers and others.

Randolph said the leaders of the march had not asked President Kennedy to address the gathering. However he said, they are requesting the chief executive to grant them a conference at the White House on the morning of march day.

Randolph and others planning the march met for more than an hour with the city's police chief, Robert V. Murray, to discuss the problems involved.

Here is a rundown of plans as they gave them:

Indications are that many, many more than 100,000 will be coming here Aug. 28. Some 35,000 are coming by trains, and they will be shuttled by buses to the gathering place, the gounds of the Washington Monument. Most are coming by chartered buses, and use of private cars is being discouraged. Several planeloads are coming from the Pacific Coast.

Two Lines Of March

The marchers will leave the Monument grounds around 12 noon (EDT) in two lines—up Constitution and Independence avenues—for the half mile march to the Lincoln Memorial.

The program there will begin at 2 p.m. The marchers will sing only one hymn—"We Shall Overcome."

The program will include songs by Negro singer Mahalia Jackson and by a group of freedom singers from all over the south. Randolph will preside, and the 10 men of the leadership committee will speak. There will be a reserved section with a chair for every member of congress.

The marchers are being asked to stay just the one day to arrive before noon and be out of Washington before 8 p.m.

Just Feathers And Short Circuit

Nashville, Tenn. (UPI)—A pigeon perched on a high voltage wire Wednesday, and suddenly:

Two radio stations and a television station went off the air.

Lights went out in buildings in half the downtown area.

Elevators jerked to a halt between floors of all buildings.

Traffic lights failed.

The pigeon was reduced to a few feathers.

A spokesman for Nashville Electric Service said the pigeon's choice of a roost caused a flash-over at a disconnecting switch, resulting in a "short circuit of some magnitude."

The 98-member unit arrived by plane and bus to join other divisions.

4-Inch Downpour Swamps Buffalo

Buffalo, N.Y. (AP) — Torrential rain swamped sections of this industrial city of 500,000 sending floodwaters swirling into thousands of cellars and forcing the evacuation by boat of 300 people in an eastern suburb.

Almost 4 inches of rain came down in 5½ hours, most of it in the mid-morning rush hours. The flood was Buffalo's second in less than two weeks and the rain the heaviest within 24 hours in 70 years.

Mayor Chester Kowall declared a state of emergency several hours after the rain stopped. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller promptly directed all state agencies to give whatever assistance they could.

Damage Extensive

The mayor's office said damage to viaducts, public buildings, schools and streets was extensive and that the state of emergency would make Buffalo eligible for federal aid.

In a telegram to Rockefeller Wednesday night, Mayor Kowal said the flood caused $7 million dam to public facilities and $28 million to private homes and businesses.

Buses stopped running. Abandoned cars, some with water up to their roofs, dotted many of the city's main intersections. Hospitals pumped water out of basements and lobbies. Power was knocked out.

Many stores and several factories were forced to close because workers were unable to get through water-choked streets.

Damage was expected to run into several million dollars—very little of it covered by insurance. More than 4 feet of water lay over the heavily flooded sections.

Families Moved

In suburban Cheektowaga, which has not had a flood in 30 years, 15 boats moved stranded families to a high school. Police in the suburb said about 80 per cent of the homes there suffered flood damage. Some cellar walls caved in.

One housewife said her 700-pound food freezer was "floating like a cork" in their basement and water had reached the kitchen when they were evacuated. With her were her two young sons and her partially blind mother.

"I don't know what to expect when we return home, probably tomorrow," she said. "It will be an awful mess."

Emergency Declared

Police declared a state of emergency in nearby West Seneca but no evacuations were reported. Residents were asked to stay off the streets. Niagara Falls reported about 100 cellars flooded.

Marchers Plan To Avoid Trouble

Washington (AP)—Negro leaders and Washington police said Wednesday all precautions are being taken to prevent violence of disorder at the massive Aug. 28 civil rights march here.

"Certainly the people are not coming here to do something that would discredit their own movement," said A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and director of the march.

Randolph made a ringing speech to some 60 or 70 congressmen gathered in a conference room at the capitol.

To the members of Congress who must handle civil rights legislation he said:

"I appeal to you that the time is short; it is later than anybody thinks. The Negroes will not continue to submit to humiliation, regardless of the costs . . . even if it costs their lives."

Randolph told reporters later that plans had been made for a counter-filibuster in Washington churches if a filibuster develops in the Senate over civil rights legislation

1,000 Persons

"We plan to bring 1,000 persons to Washington for a round-the-clock educational filibuster," he said. Speakers would include lawyers, ministers, social workers and others.

Randolph said the leaders of the march had not asked President Kennedy to address the gathering. However he said, they are requesting the chief executive to grant them a conference at the White House on the morning of march day.

Randolph and others planning the march met for more than an hour with the city's police chief, Robert V. Murray, to discuss the problems involved.

Here is a rundown of plans as they gave them:

Indications are that many, many more than 100,000 will be coming here Aug. 28. Some 35,000 are coming by trains, and they will be shuttled by buses to the gathering place, the gounds of the Washington Monument. Most are coming by chartered buses, and use of private cars is being discouraged. Several planeloads are coming from the Pacific Coast.

Two Lines Of March

The marchers will leave the Monument grounds around 12 noon (EDT) in two lines—up Constitution and Independence avenues—for the half mile march to the Lincoln Memorial.

The program there will begin at 2 p.m. The marchers will sing only one hymn—"We Shall Overcome."

The program will include songs by Negro singer Mahalia Jackson and by a group of freedom singers from all over the south. Randolph will preside, and the 10 men of the leadership committee will speak. There will be a reserved section with a chair for every member of congress.

The marchers are being asked to stay just the one day to arrive before noon and be out of Washington before 8 p.m.

Just Feathers And Short Circuit

Nashville, Tenn. (UPI)—A pigeon perched on a high voltage wire Wednesday, and suddenly:

Two radio stations and a television station went off the air.

Lights went out in buildings in half the downtown area.

Elevators jerked to a halt between floors of all buildings.

Traffic lights failed.

The pigeon was reduced to a few feathers.

A spokesman for Nashville Electric Service said the pigeon's choice of a roost caused a flash-over at a disconnecting switch, resulting in a "short circuit of some magnitude."

Lincoln Marine Group Trains In California

The 3rd Engineer Maintenance Company, U.S. Marine Corps Reserve from Lincoln this week began two weeks of field training in Camp Pendelton, Calif.

The 98-member unit arrived by plane and bus to join other divisions.

4-Inch Downpour Swamps Buffalo

Buffalo, N.Y. (AP) — Torrential rain swamped sections of this industrial city of 500,000 sending floodwaters swirling into thousands of cellars and forcing the evacuation by boat of 300 people in an eastern suburb.

Almost 4 inches of rain came down in 5½ hours, most of it in the mid-morning rush hours. The flood was Buffalo's second in less than two weeks and the rain the heaviest within 24 hours in 70 years.

Mayor Chester Kowall declared a state of emergency several hours after the rain stopped. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller promptly directed all state agencies to give whatever assistance they could.

Damage Extensive

The mayor's office said damage to viaducts, public buildings, schools and streets was extensive and that the state of emergency would make Buffalo eligible for federal aid.

In a telegram to Rockefeller Wednesday night, Mayor Kowal said the flood caused $7 million damage to public facilities and $28 million to private homes and businesses.

Buses stopped running. Abandoned cars, some with water up to their roofs, dotted many of the city's main intersections. Hospitals pumped water out of basements and lobbies. Power was knocked out.

Many stores and several factories were forced to close because workers were unable to get through water-choked streets.

Damage was expected to run into several million dollars—very little of it covered by insurance. More than 4 feet of water lay over the heavily flooded sections.

Families Moved

In suburban Cheektowaga, which has not had a flood in 30 years, 15 boats moved stranded families to a high school. Police in the suburb said about 80 per cent of the homes there suffered flood damage. Some cellar walls caved in.

One housewife said her 700-pound food freezer was "floating like a cork" in their basement and water had reached the kitchen when they were evacuated. With her were her two young sons and her partially blind mother.

"I don't know what to expect when we return home, probably tomorrow," she said. "It will be an awful mess."

Emergency Declared

Police declared a state of emergency in nearby West Seneca but no evacuations were reported. Residents were asked to stay off the streets. Niagara Falls reported about 100 cellars flooded.

BANKER'S APPEAL ON DOCKET

The appeal by a former Gresham banker of his conviction in a sensational bank embezzlement case will be on the docket in September when the Nebraska Supreme Court returns to the bench after its summer recess.

Harry I. Hilton of York was convicted by a York district court jury on separate counts of making false entries in the ledgers of the Gresham State Bank. Hylton, who was vice president of the bank, voluntarily admitted in a written statement to State Banking Director Ralph Misko that he had knowledge of over half a million dollars being misappropriated from the bank dating back beyond 1931.

The shortages were exposed after bank cashier Arthur Walford shot and killed himself last November when a bank examiner unexpectedly entered the bank.

Nolo Contendere

In a brief, Hylton asked that his sentences be reduced, contending they were excessive. He pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) in the district court proceedings.

Another appeal to be considered by the court is the murder conviction of Dennis O'Kelly of Lincoln by a Lancaster District Court jury.

O'Kelly, 21, was convicted of killing his 18-year-old girlfriend, Barbara Eastman, in August 1962. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary after the jury found him guilty of second degree murder. He had pleaded innocent to the charge.

Oral Confession

O'Kelly orally confessed to police he beat the Eastman girl to death and then threw her body into Oak Lake after an argument, but repudiated the confession at his trial. He questioned the right of the district court to admit the oral confession as evidence.

An Omaha Sunday closing law case is also scheduled although the decision on this appeal won't matter too much now that the 1963 Legislature has enacted a statewide closing law.

This case was filed by a number of Omaha drugstore owners who contested the legality of the municipal ordinance. The Douglas District Court upheld it.

It is very likely that someone will file suit for a determination of the statewide closing law which goes into effect Oct. 19.

Unicam Action Sought To Expand Power Unit's Boards

A rural power leader has called for legislative action at the coming special session of the Unicameral to force the Loup and Platte Public Power Districts to expand their boards of directors to represent the entire area of their wholesale power operations.

Paul Ogier of Wallace, chairman of the legislative committee of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association, also leveled a charge of mismanagement against present directors of the Loup District.

He said he will ask Gov. Frank Morrison to include the matter of Loup and Platte directorships in his expected call for a special legislative session.

The power issue stems from the fact that Loup and Platte Districts, forming the Nebraska Public Power System sell wholesale electricity in more than 70 counties in the eastern two-thirds of the state, except for the Omaha area.

But Loup's directors are elected only from Platte County and Platte's from Keith, Lincoln Dawson, and Buffalo Counties.

Ogier cited Loup District's construction of a lake near Columbus as evidence of "mismanagement" by that agency's directors.

He said that information on the lake shows that it would provide only enough electricity for four and a half hours.

"It is obvious that the primary purpose of the lake is to provide recreation for the people of Columbus," Ogier said.

Power Board Sets Rate Issue Hearing

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Power Review Board Wednesday set for hearing on Sept. 23 the wholesale rate dispute between Consumers Public Power District (CPPD) and the Nebraska Public Power System (NPPS).

Testimony is expected to take two or 3 days.

The issue was laid before the board a week ago by CPPD.

The board possesses only advisory authority in rate disputes among power agencies, and its decision in the matter will not be binding upon the parties involved. However its recommendations are expected to carry great weight.

Hearing on the dispute will follow by just 5 days presentation of a future power supply report by public power representatives.

Services Offered

Meanwhile, Chairman Clair Callan of Odell disclosed that the board has been offered the free services of Dr. John R. Felton, a public utilities economist at the University of Nebraska.

The offer was made to Callan by Dr. Stuart Hall, chairman of the Economics Department.

Felton, formerly with the University of California, has been in Nebraska a year.

No action was taken on the proposal, but board members have previously indicated an interest in obtaining professional consultation, particularly in rate disputes.

In other action, the board set for Aug. 21 a hearing to determine whether Consumers or the Gering Valley Rural Public Power District should serve a new oil pumping station south of Gering.

Both Applied

Both agencies have applied to serve the station, and the board's decision on the matter will be binding barring successful appeal to the courts.

The board also directed State Water Resources Director Dan Jones Jr. to inform Hemingford representatives that it believes it has jurisdiction in a case in which the municipality is considering seeking a new source of wholesale power.

Hemingford is now served by Consumers, but its contract expires Sept. 8. An engineering firm has recommended that the city switch its supply contract to a rural electric district.

To do so, Hemingford would need to construct a transmission line beyond its zoning area. At this point the board would acquire jurisdiction.

Pending in Court

In the CPPD-NPPS rate dispute, Consumers has alleged that the latter's wholesale rate charges to CPPD are too high and discriminatory. The issue is also pending in the courts.

NPPS is composed of Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District

It Was There All Right

Wolverhampton, England (UPI)—A man identified only as Mr. Cotterell tossed a note from a speeding train when it passed through this city. It said, "Mr. Cotterell of 32 Ashbourne Road, Bloxwich, has left the kettle on the stove. Please inform the police." A railway worker who found the note complied. Police telephoned the fire department in Bloxwich. Firemen went to the house. They found the kettle on the stove. There was no fire under it.

Interstate Employment Security Conference To Be Held In Omaha

The 27th Annual Interstate Conference of Employment Security Agencies will be held this year in Omaha, Sept. 30-Oct. 2.

State Labor Commissioner Lambert Eitel will be host to the conclave expected to draw labor commissioners from states all over the nation.

Among the dignitaries scheduled to speak are Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, Gov. Frank Morrison and Omaha Mayor J. Dworak.

IN YOUR KITCHEN

WHEN YOU COOK
the "ELECTRIC" way

THAT'S RIGHT . . . it's just like air conditioning your kitchen when you install a new ELECTRIC RANGE. Actual tests have shown that a kitchen with an ELECTRIC range stays up to 17 degrees cooler.

It's been said that switching to an ELECTRIC range is equivalent to installing ½ HP of air conditioning. WHY? That's because virtually all the heat of an ELECTRIC range goes into cooking the food, whereas nearly 50% of the heat of a flame type range is circulated outside the utensil, heating up the room, making you uncomfortable. Enjoy ELECTRIC COOKING—KEEP COOL.

Khrushchev's Tactics Infuriate Red Chinese

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Red China's embassy in Moscow is on Druzhba Street. Druzhba means friendship in Moscow.

In spite of old suspicions and old wounds, there might have been a little more "druzhba" after Stalin died if Nikita Khrushchev had been satisfied to play in his own back yard. He wasn't.

Khrushchev waded into Asia with a bang. His road show — with the yet-to-be-purged Premier Nikolai Bulganin in tow — spread the new word: Russians and Asians were brothers. He exuded blustery good will.

Annoyed

The Red Chinese were annoyed. Khrushchev, taking a leaf from the old imperialist book, was out to catch more flies with honey than with vinegar. He was operating almost on the style of the Victorian British. Soviet projects and technicians would go to the aid of India, Afghanistan and subsequently to Egypt and other countries whose governments were basically anti-Communist.

The Chinese grumbled: World revolution would not be advanced by helping "bourgeois" regimes. Communist economic power should be used to foster revolutions and to help Communist-ruled nations.

There was more to Peking's annoyance than that. Khrushchev had laid down a "peaceful coexistence" policy at the 1956 Soviet Communist Congress.

Did this mean pulling the brakes on a Communist locomotive ready to roar across Southeast Asia? Was this the old popular front line of the Stalin era, when Moscow was weak and unready?

Not Alone

Mao Tze-tung's politburo was not alone in its annoyance. Stalinist stalwarts in Moscow decided Khrushchev was dangerous to party authority and had to go.

Khrushchev outmaneuvered his foes. In mid-1957 he tossed out of power those he called "the antiparty group." Out too, went the war hero, Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov. Up into orbit went Russia's first Spunik. Khrushchev appeared very much the man in control. But he had problems.

Confusion and disarray in the Red world movement over Kremlin direction signals led to a meeting of Communist leaders in Moscow in November 1957. This produced the often-cited 1957 Moscow Declaration, which the Chinese signed — probably reluctantly — and which they later interpreted in their own way.

United Fronts

Among other things, the declaration directed Communist parties to seek united fronts with other elements in the free world in a long-term drive for supremacy.

The declaration warned, however, that there was no abandonment of violent revolution. It could be used when conditions permitted.

To the Chinese, all this limited Communist freedom of aggressive action.

Little To Lose

The U.S.S.R. had much to lose in world war— the Chinese little Mao Tze-tung had put forward the idea that China could lose half her population and still emerge from the world war more populous than any other nation.

Khrushchev's views, Peking muttered, were the stuff heresy was made of. Khrushchev revised Lenin. "Modern revisionists" — meaning Khrushchev—were as bad as or worse than the heretic Tito of Yugoslavia whom Stalin quarantined.

No Communist worth his salt, argued Peking, would lose an opportunity to move in on what the Reds call "the national democratic revolution" in Asia, Africa, the Middle East and Latin America.

Mao Got Madder

In 1958 Khrushchev turned thumbs down on a Communist grab for Iraq in the Middle East, and the Chinese burned. Matters got worse. In 1959, Khrushchev went to the United States and described President Eisenhower as "a man of peace." The Red Chinese howled in anger.

The quarrel subsided briefly in 1960 when Khrushchev used the U-2 spy plane incident to break up the Paris summit conference. But he failed to follow through on his threats and the quarrel with Peking rose in tempo.

To the Chinese, Khrushchev had become a roadblock on the path to swift Communist conquests. To Khrushchev, the Chinese were reckless to the point of endangering the Soviet Union.

In vain, Moscow explained it still supported world revolution, it backed internal subversion, propaganda, economic offensives, local civil wars, stopping short only at the point where there might be danger of world war.

16,000 Have Escaped Since Berlin Wall Built

Berlin (UPI)—The West German government, with the second anniversary of Communist Berlin's anti-refugee wall approaching, reported Wednesday that 16,456 East Germans have escaped to the west since the barbed wire and concrete barrier was erected.

Even as the statistics were released, communist gunfire apparently stopped a new escape attempt along the wall and at least one person appeared to have been killed in 4 separate incidents.

The government report said at least 65 persons have been killed trying to escape since Aug. 13, 1961, when the wall was started. Of the total, 54 died trying to reach West Berlin and the others were killed in escape attempts elsewhere between East and West Germany.

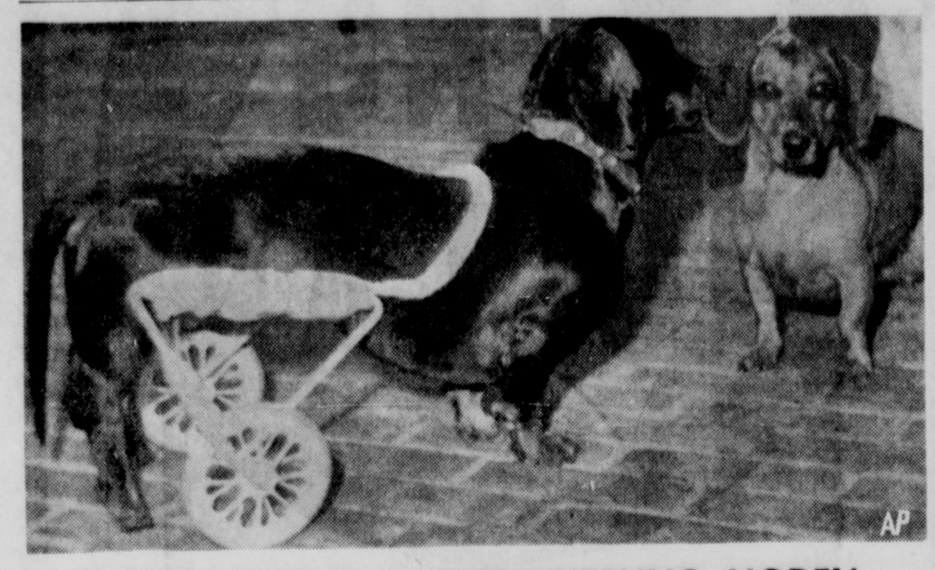

During the first year of the wall, 12,000 persons escaped. The second year, the total was 4,456 but there were more soldiers and policemen who sought refuge in the west. These defections were viewed as a reflection of the low morale of policemen and soldiers who were under orders to shoot and kill civilians attempting to escape.

3 Million Before

Before the communists put up the wall, an estimated 3 million East Germans fled to the west.

The 65 deaths were based on official police records. The government said many more refugees probably were killed in isolated spots where there were no reporting witnesses.

The statistics indicated that the wall and the shoot-to-kill policy of the East German communists has been successful. In June, 1961, before the wall was established, 19,000 persons fled to the west. A month later, the figure rose to 30,000 and by Aug. 13 East German were leaving their country at the rate of 100 an hour.

Key Rail Firemen To Washington

Washington (AP) — The men with power to speak for the railroad firemen—key figures in the "featherbedding" dispute—were told Wednesday to gather here next week so they will be handy if any possible solution is reached.

"If there is to be an agreement this group has got to be here," Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said.

But there were no outward signs of progress toward that goal as negotiators for crewmen who operate the trains outside the locomotoves continued renewed face-to-face talks with railroad spokesmen under the hopeful eye of Wirtz. He popped in and out of morning and afternoon sessions.

Engine crew representatives stayed on a standby basis for further meetings with the carrier negotiators at the Labor Department.

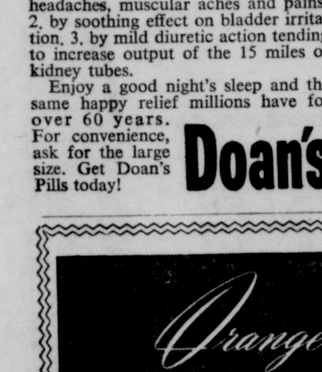

The almost constant series of talks this week is expected to determine whether the two sides can end their 4-year stalemate over work rules or whether Congress must act to prevent a nationwide railroad strike Aug. 29.

J. L. Shattuck, vice president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, summoned the 156-member general chairmen of the union to meet here Tuesday. These men, chairmen of employe groups, have authority to act for the union on any prospective settlement.

Shattuck, whose union is one of 5 involved in the dispute, said no specific proposal for settlement is at hand at present. However he said officials are hoping there will be by next week something in the way of solution to put before the union chairmen.

His announcement of the summons to the group was described by Shattuck as "an important development."

He said it was called at Wirtz's urging to the brotherhood's president, H. E. Gilbert.

Rip Van Winkle couldn't sleep with nagging backache

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain—you want relief—want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink—often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

Doan's Pills work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 2. by soothing effect on bladder irritation. 3. by mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. For convenience, ask for the large size. Get Doan's Pills today!

The wedding will take place in November.

A Competent Committee

An exceedingly interesting and entertaining meeting held in Lincoln from Sunday to Thursday of this week was the American Institute of Cooperation at the Pershing auditorium.

Nebraska women contributed to the success of the meeting by planning a special program for the many out of town women who accompanied their husbands from all sections of the country to Lincoln.

Serving as a committee to plan the entertainment for the visiting ladies was the group pictured above.

LAFB Swim Group To Meet

Members of the synchronized swimming group of the Lincoln Air Force Base Officers Wives Club will meet for a practice session on Thursday morning at the base pool.

The session will begin at 9:30 o'clock.

It Seams To Me

Questions And Answers

Patricia Scott

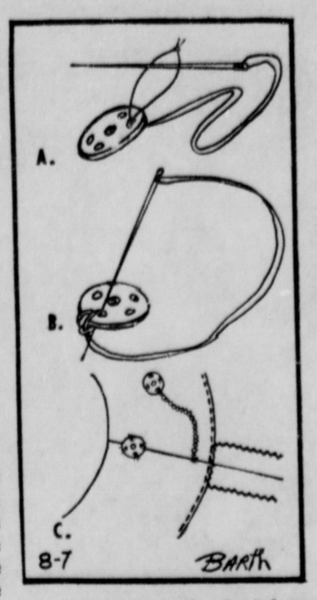

Q. I have a dress that doesn't fit me at the shoulders, which are too short. Can I fix it? — MRS. V. O.

A. If you have enough seam allowance at the shoulders and the fabric is rather firmly woven, you can take smaller seams to give you a little more room.

Q. How can I make fine thread lingerie straps? — MISS T. E.

A. Thread your needle with a double strand and knot the ends. Place the needle through one hole of the snap "socket." Pull the thread almost all the way through the hole and then put the needle between the two strands near the ends that are knotted (see figure A). When you draw the thread up the snap will be fastened to the thread by a loop. To be sure it is secure, make two or three blanket stitches through the same hole, leaving a loop large enough to begin the chain stitch (figure B). After the chain is long enough to slip easily underneath your shoulder straps, slip the needle through the last loop to fasten. Securely tack the chain to the seam allowance of the shoulder seam. Then sew the "ball" part of the snap to the dress in the right position (figure C).

Q. I am very round shouldered and my dresses sag under the bustline. I've tried taking in the extra fabric at the waistline seam but this throws the grain off. What should I do? — MRS. T. C.

A. Rip the shoulder seams. Then raise them on the front until your grain is straight across your bust. You must take up the neck at the shoulder seams to fit properly, but just taper the seam to its normal width at the armhole.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

In response to requests for reprints of her series on slipcovers, Patricia Scott has compiled them in booklet form, HOW TO MAKE SLIPCOVERS. For your copy of this helpful booklet, write to Miss Scott in care of Box 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addresed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Betrothal

The Rev. and Mrs. August F. Blobaum of Humboldt, have announced the betrothal of their daughter, Carolyn, to Lawrence O. Schroeder of DeWitt.

The wedding will take place in November.

A Competent Committee

An exceedingly interesting and entertaining meeting held in Lincoln from Sunday to Thursday of this week was the American Institute of Cooperation at the Pershing auditorium.

Nebraska women contributed to the success of the meeting by planning a special program for the many out of town women who accompanied their husbands from all sections of the country to Lincoln.

Serving as a committee to plan the entertainment for the visiting ladies was the group pictured above.

LAFB Swim Group To Meet

Members of the synchronized swimming group of the Lincoln Air Force Base Officers Wives Club will meet for a practice session on Thursday morning at the base pool.

The session will begin at 9:30 o'clock.

It Seams To Me

Questions And Answers

Patricia Scott

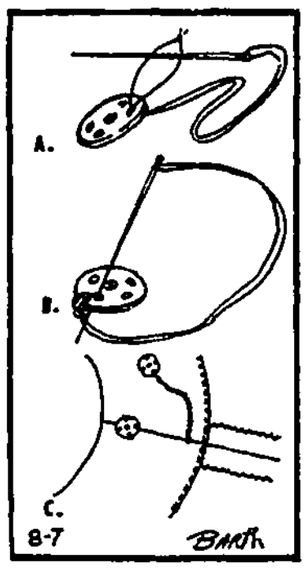

Q. I have a dress that doesn't fit me at the shoulders, which are too short. Can I fix it? — MRS. V. O.

A. If you have enough seam allowance at the shoulders and the fabric is rather firmly woven, you can take smaller seams to give you a little more room.

Q. How can I make fine thread lingerie straps? — MISS T. E.

A. Thread your needle with a double strand and knot the ends. Place the needle through one hole of the snap "socket." Pull the thread almost all the way through the hole and then put the needle between the two strands near the ends that are knotted (see figure A). When you draw the thread up the snap will be fastened to the thread by a loop. To be sure it is secure, make two or three blanket stitches through the same hole, leaving a loop large enough to begin the chain stitch (figure B). After the chain is long enough to slip easily underneath your shoulder straps, slip the needle through the last loop to fasten. Securely tack the chain to the seam allowance of the shoulder seam. Then sew the "ball" part of the snap to the dress in the right position (figure C).

Q. I am very round shouldered and my dresses sag under the bustline. I've tried taking in the extra fabric at the waistline seam but this throws the grain off. What should I do? — MRS. T. C.

A. Rip the shoulder seams. Then raise them on the front until your grain is straight across your bust. You must take up the neck at the shoulder seams to fit properly, but just taper the seam to its normal width at the armhole.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

In response to requests for reprints of her series on slipcovers, Patricia Scott has compiled them in booklet form, HOW TO MAKE SLIPCOVERS. For your copy of this helpful booklet, write to Miss Scott in care of Box 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addresed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Party Compliments Young Visitor

Miss DeDe Cochrane of Salinas, Calif., was complimented on Wednesday when her aunt, Helen Cochrane Teal, and her grandmother, Mrs. W. S. Cochrane, were hostesses at luncheon at the University Club. The guest list included a group of Lincoln's young feminine set—and another out of town guest, Miss Jan Jennings of Lawrence, Kan., who is visiting Miss Sue Dort.

Wedding Plans, Parties

Choosing late summer for her wedding is Miss Patricia Ann Birney of Omaha, Kappa Alpha Theta at the University of Nebraska, whose marriage to Stephen Joynt, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Joynt, will be solemnized on Saturday, Aug. 24.

For the service which will take place at the First Methodist Curch in Omaha, Miss Birney has named her sister, Miss Judy Birney, as her maid of honor.

Her bridesmaids will be Miss Martha Thomas, Omaha; Miss Sally Jones, and her fiance's sister, Miss Janis Joynt, Lincoln.

Perry Dudden of Venango will serve Mr. Joynt as best man, and seating the guests will be Bob Harris, Holdrege; Harold Bauer, Jim Morgan and John Osterlund.

Miss Birney and her fiance were guests of honor on Wednesday evening, July 31, when Miss Sally Jones entertained friends of the couple at her home. During the informal evening, a shower of party accessories was presented to the honorees.

Also revealing plans this morning for a late summer wedding is Miss Kathleen Anderson of Fremont, alumna of the University of Nebraska and a member of Pi Beta Phi, who has chosen Saturday, Aug. 31, as the date for her marriage to Charles C. White of Bennington.

The bride-elect has announced that the ceremony will be solemnized at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Congregational Church in Fremont.

A prenuptial courtesy honoring an August bride-elect, Miss Beuna Carmicheal, was held on Monday evening when Miss Barbara Bitterman was hostess at her home. During the party, a miscellaneous shower was presented to Miss Carmicheal, who will become the bride of Frederick Chittenden on Sunday, Aug. 18.

The bride-elect has announced that the ceemony will be solemnized at 7:30 o'clock in the evening at the Presbyterian Chapel on the University of Nebraska campus.

For her maid of honor, the bride-to-be has chosen her sister, Miss Clarice Carmicheal of Red Oak, Iowa, and her bridesmaid will be Miss Linda Chittenden, sister of her fiance. Miss Cynthia Steiner will be the flower girl.

John Lorenz of Dunbar will serve Mr. Chittenden as best man, and the corps of ushers will include Ivan Brumbaugh of Council Bluffs, Bruce Steiner and John Linn.

Dennis Brumbaugh and Daneil Brumbaugh, Council Bluffs, will light the chancel candles.

We Hear That

The newest addition to the bassinet set is Miss Jane Mayer Gradwohl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Gradwohl of Ames, Iowa, who was born on Thursday, Aug. 1. The very young Miss Gradwohl has a two year-old brother, Steven, and her grandparents are Mrs. Ludwig Rosenberg and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gradwohl of Lincoln.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Gradwohl are graduates of the University of Nebraska, and Mr. Gradwohl, who is an instructor in anthropology at Iowa State University, will receive his Doctor's Degree from Harvard University in the near future.

PARK MANOR

The red carpets are rolled out in Park Manor this week, for all around the neighborhood it seems that everyone has entertained, is entertaining, or will be entertaining visitors from far and near.

Heading the list in the Park Manor guest book this week are former Lincoln residents who are visiting in the area and who are renewing old friendships and acquaintances.

Former Lincoln and Park Manor residents who were visiting in the neighborhood last week were Maj. and Mrs. Frank Burwell and their children, Bonnie and Bradley.

The Burwell family, who now reside at Wurtsmith AFB, Oscoda, Mich., have been the houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Miller and their children Richard, Barbara, Joleen and Susan.

There is also another former Lincoln resident who is visiting at the Miller home this week, and that is Miss Linda Irvine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Irvine of Des Moines, Iowa.

Linda, who is the guest of Barbara Miller, will be joined here on Friday by her parents and her brother Jack who will accompany her home.

Home after a week's visit in Huron, S.D., this week are Mrs. Donald Kuhle and her daughter Kim.

Mrs. Kuhle and Kim have been the houseguests of Mrs. Kuhle's sister and family, Mrs. Eldon Schmahe and Billy, Dick and Robbie.

The Schmahe family returned to Lincoln with Mrs. Kuhle and Kim and are now spending several days at the Kuhle home.

An out-of-state visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Charles earlier this week was Mrs. Charles' sister, Mrs. Jack F. Boehner of Arlington Heights, Ill.

While in Lincoln, Mrs. Boehner also visited with her mother, Mrs. Hugh Dalton.

Entertaining at a bridal shower in the Park Manor area on Tuesday evening were Mrs. Alan Embury, Mrs. Jack London, Miss Donna Logan and Mrs. Kermit Holmes.

The honoree was Miss Nancy Kurtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kurtz, who will become the bride of James Eitel on Sept. 9.

The invited guests included former high school friends of Miss Kurtz.

A birthday celebrant in the neighborhood this week was Master Dennis Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Nelson, who celebrated his 10th anniversary on Monday, August 5.

Dennis entertained Robert Ozenbaugh, Steve Weller, Jerry Barnett and his brother Duayne last Friday by attending an afternoon movie followed by a dip in the East Hills pool before returning to the Nelson home for a late afternoon luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cldye Hyde will be host and hostess next week when they will be entertaining former Lincoln residents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Combs and their son William.

Mr. and Mrs. Combs and their son will be arriving Aug. 14. from Gainesville, Fla., and will be spending several days visiting former friends and neighbors in the Lincoln area.

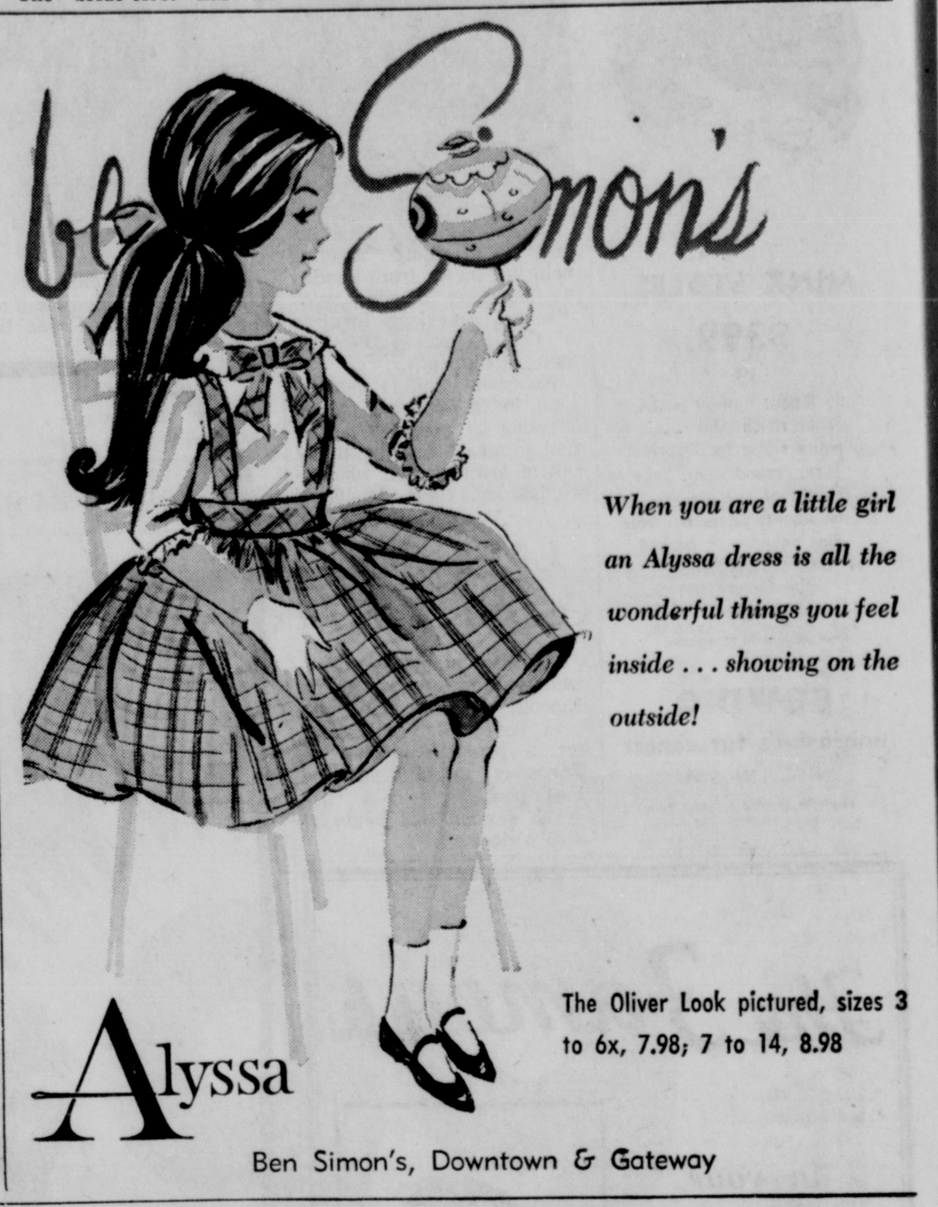

Luau Is Prenuptial Courtesy

An August bride-elect who was honored at an Hawaiian "luau" on Wednesday evening was Miss Susan Lassek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilary Lassek, whose marriage to William Neal will be an event of Saturday, Aug. 31.

Hostess at her home for the patio supper was Mrs. D. M. Trook whose co-hostesses included Miss Sharon Larson, Miss Nonie Spink, Miss Reda Catherell, Mrs. David Kingery and Mrs. Chris Grabenstein. Twenty-five guests were invited to the party and presented a miscellaneous shower to the honoree.

Dear Abby

Quit—And Tell Your Parents The Whole Story

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been working for Mr. and Mrs. Smith for two weeks. I take care of their two children. I am almost 17. My problem is Mr. Smith. He is always trying to get me alone to kiss me. He told me he has no romantic interest in me, he just wants to kiss me. This man is old enough to be my father. His wife knows nothing of this and I am sure it would hurt her to find out. I can't tell my parents because they would make me quit, and I need the money for school in the fall. I am really afraid and don't know what to do.

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO: Quit your job and go home. Tell your parents the reason for quitting, and let THEM tell Mrs. Smith. She may be "hurt" to learn that her husband is either sick or lecherous, but covering it up could be a disaster for the next young girl she hires to care for her children.

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago I invited some friends over for a Sunday supper. They accepted a week prior to the day. So on Sunday morning I proceeded to prepare for the dinner. At exactly the moment they were to arrive we received a telephone call from them saying "company had dropped in" and they were unable to come. Having thawed out nine T-bone steaks, made two apple pies, besides French fries and onion rings and salads, I was a bit miffed to say the least. Do you think they had a legitimate reason for disappointing us that way? Or were they wrong?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: They were wrong. They should have told their unexpected company that they were expected for supper. And promptly left for your home.

DEAR ABBY: In romance stories I notice that when a man proposes to his lady he takes the engagement ring along with him. After the girl says yes he slips the ring on her finger and they are engaged. What I can't figure out is how the man finds out the lady's finger size without her getting wise to what he's up to.

ZM

DEAR ZM: In "romance" stories the girl always says yes, the ring always fits and they live happily ever after. In modern times, the man asks the girl for her hand first. If she wants to give it to him, she starts with her finger, which the jeweler measures for the ring size, and they select the ring together.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO "D:" Since you can read your husband "like a book," why don't you skip what you don't like in him, as you do in a book? Your life's story will then have a happier ending.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LAS PALMAS": The mother-daughter team that looks "just like sisters" frequently does more for the mother's ego than the daughter's.

Opening lead—jack of diamonds.

Let's say you're declarer at five hearts and West leads the jack of diamonds. You certainly don't have to be a genius to recognize the lead as a singleton. West surely must have had a safe spade lead, having bid the suit twice and having been raised twice by his partner.

On the surface the only losers are a spade and a heart, but, with the singleton lead, there is now a substantial danger of being defeated by a diamond ruff.

You can't afford to sit idly by and let the ruff take place, so you start to think of ways and means of trying to prevent the ruff.

You could win the diamond in dummy and lead a heart, trying to take the trumps out as soon as possible, but this is hardly likely to head off the ruff. If East has the ace of hearts, he'll take it and return a diamond, while if West has the ace of hearts, he'll win it and put his partner in with a spade in order to get a diamond return.

This method of play obviously won't work, so you have to look for some other way of salvaging the contract.

The best way of playing the hand is to win the diamond with the ace and then cash the ace of clubs and continue with the queen. When East follows low, you discard the seven of spades. Once you do this, the contract is made. East cannot possibly obtain the lead and the only tricks you lose are the queen of clubs and one of hearts.

It is true there is an alternative line of play which would succeed in the actual hand, but it is not recommended in this case. You could win the opening lead with the queen of diamonds and finesse the queen of clubs, in an effort to make the contract, but if, by any chance, East had the king, you might suffer a three-trick defeat.

Marriage Is Announced

The wedding of Miss Nancy Irene Shirley, daughter of Mrs. P. C. Shirley of Nebraska City, and the late Mr. Shirley, and Richard Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Fox of Brooklyn, N.Y., took place Saturday evening, Aug. 3, at the Village Temple, New York City. The service was solemnized by Rabbi Charles Davidson in the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends.

Both the bride, a former member of The Lincoln Star reportorial staff, and Mr. Fox are graduates of the University of Nebraska School of Journalism.

Following a wedding trip to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, the couple will reside at 57 Montaque St., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Banquet

The alumnae of the Bryan Hospital School of Nursing will hold their annual banquet on Friday evening at the University Club.

Especially honored at the 6:30 o'clock banquet will be the School of Nursing seniors, whose graduation exercises will be held on Sunday at the First Methodist Church.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been working for Mr. and Mrs. Smith for two weeks. I take care of their two children. I am almost 17. My problem is Mr. Smith. He is always trying to get me alone to kiss me. He told me he has no romantic interest in me, he just wants to kiss me. This man is old enough to be my father. His wife knows nothing of this and I am sure it would hurt her to find out. I can't tell my parents because they would make me quit, and I need the money for school in the fall. I am really afraid and don't know what to do.

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO: Quit your job and go home. Tell your parents the reason for quitting, and let THEM tell Mrs. Smith. She may be "hurt" to learn that her husband is either sick or lecherous, but covering it up could be a disaster for the next young girl she hires to care for her children.

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago I invited some friends over for a Sunday supper. They accepted a week prior to the day. So on Sunday morning I proceeded to prepare for the dinner. At exactly the moment they were to arrive we received a telephone call from them saying "company had dropped in" and they were unable to come. Having thawed out nine T-bone steaks, made two apple pies, besides French fries and onion rings and salads, I was a bit miffed to say the least. Do you think they had a legitimate reason for disappointing us that way? Or were they wrong?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: They were wrong. They should have told their unexpected company that they were expected for supper. And promptly left for your home.

DEAR ABBY: In romance stories I notice that when a man proposes to his lady he takes the engagement ring along with him. After the girl says yes he slips the ring on her finger and they are engaged. What I can't figure out is how the man finds out the lady's finger size without her getting wise to what he's up to.

DEAR ZM: In "romance" stories the girl always says yes, the ring always fits and they live happily ever after. In modern times, the man asks the girl for her hand first. If she wants to give it to him, she starts with her finger, which the jeweler measures for the ring size, and they select the ring together.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO "D:" Since you can read your husband "like a book," why don't you skip what you don't like in him, as you do in a book? Your life's story will then have a happier ending.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LAS PALMAS": The mother-daughter team that looks "just like sisters" frequently does more for the mother's ego than the daughter's.

Opening lead—jack of diamonds.

Let's say you're declarer at five hearts and West leads the jack of diamonds. You certainly don't have to be a genius to recognize the lead as a singleton. West surely must have had a safe spade lead, having bid the suit twice and having been raised twice by his partner.

On the surface the only losers are a spade and a heart, but, with the singleton lead, there is now a substantial danger of being defeated by a diamond ruff.

You can't afford to sit idly by and let the ruff take place, so you start to think of ways and means of trying to prevent the ruff.

You could win the diamond in dummy and lead a heart, trying to take the trumps out as soon as possible, but this is hardly likely to head off the ruff. If East has the ace of hearts, he'll take it and return a diamond, while if West has the ace of hearts, he'll win it and put his partner in with a spade in order to get a diamond return.

This method of play obviously won't work, so you have to look for some other way of salvaging the contract.

The best way of playing the hand is to win the diamond with the ace and then cash the ace of clubs and continue with the queen. When East follows low, you discard the seven of spades. Once you do this, the contract is made. East cannot possibly obtain the lead and the only tricks you lose are the queen of clubs and one of hearts.

It is true there is an alternative line of play which would succeed in the actual hand, but it is not recommended in this case. You could win the opening lead with the queen of diamonds and finesse the queen of clubs, in an effort to make the contract, but if, by any chance, East had the king, you might suffer a three-trick defeat.

Marriage Is Announced

The wedding of Miss Nancy Irene Shirley, daughter of Mrs. P. C. Shirley of Nebraska City, and the late Mr. Shirley, and Richard Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Fox of Brooklyn, N.Y., took place Saturday evening, Aug. 3, at the Village Temple, New York City. The service was solemnized by Rabbi Charles Davidson in the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends.

Both the bride, a former member of The Lincoln Star reportorial staff, and Mr. Fox are graduates of the University of Nebraska School of Journalism.

Following a wedding trip to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, the couple will reside at 57 Montague St., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Banquet

The alumnae of the Bryan Hospital School of Nursing will hold their annual banquet on Friday evening at the University Club.

Especially honored at the 6:30 o'clock banquet will be the School of Nursing seniors, whose graduation exercises will be held on Sunday at the First Methodist Church.

Russ, Chinese Clasp Hands At Hiroshima Ban-Bomb Meet

Hiroshima (AP) — Delegates from Red China and the Soviet Union temporarily laid aside their ideological bludgeons Wednesday and wearily shook hands to prevent the Hiroshima ban-the-bomb conference from ending in total bankruptcy.

Faced with the disintegration of one of their favorite front organizations, the two giants of world communism called off a debate over the recently signed Big 3 partial nuclear test ban treaty.

The conference, whose days may be numbered as a result of the Japanese Communist Party's insistence on playing Red politics with a test ban pact, pulled itself together after the Peking-Moscow show of unity and passed a series of resolutions which said little.

All seemed sweetness and light as the rival delegations appeared on a platform of the municipal gym before 6,000 perspiring delegates and applauded each other.

The smiles were in sharp contrast to the hard looks of the first two days of the conference.

But inside the 11-member drafting committee all was not smooth going. Conference officials disclosed that there had been serious difficulties.

Finally the opposing delegations, prodded by U.S. delegate Russ Nixon of New York, agreed to drop all references to the treaty which the Chinese came here specifically to assail.

The Chinese ignored Soviet calls for unity and described the treaty as "dirty fraud" and worse. Soviet chief delegate Uri Zhukyov lost his temper Tuesday and polemics reached a white hot stage.

But the Russians unquestionally came out of the exchange with the best part of the bargain. They came here to shut off the stream of Chinese abuse of the treaty and were successful.

Soviets Dispute China's Claims

Moscow (AP)—The Soviet Union Wednesday sharply disputed Red Chinese claims to activity in the underdeveloped countries and accused Peking of "pushing the national liberation movement to setbacks and defeat."

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda led off a massive propaganda barrage aimed at convincing Asian, African, and Latin American leftists that their real friends are the Russians.

"The Soviet Union in deeds, not words, is rendering resolute, effective and steadfast support on all fronts of the anti-colonial struggle to peoples fighting for freedom and full independence," Pravda said.

Skimping On Friends

The Chinese insist the Russians are pouring out aid to bolster noncommunist regimes in the new nations while skimping on its assistance to friendly communist states.

All Moscow newspapers, including Krasnaya Zvesda (Red Star) published by the defense ministry, attacked the Chinese for their opposition to the nuclear test ban treaty.

The Soviet news agency Tass continued its separate feud with the New China News Agency. It accused the Chinese agency of distorting news about life in the Soviet Union, a charge usually made against Western news media.

Speculation Cited

It cited one example involving a report taken from a Soviet newspaper about speculation by private homeowners in areas short of hotel space.

"Taking quotations out of their context and without giving any explanations, the agency tries to create the impression that the incident reported by the newspaper is typical of Soviet life," it said.

Finance Firms License Dates Set

Sales finance companies operating in Nebraska must obtain a license by Sept. 18 to continue operation under the 1963 Installment Sales Act, and then must again obtain a license on Oct. 1 for the ensuing year, the attorney general ruled Wednesday.

In an opinion written by Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard H. Williams in answer to questions posed by State Banking Director Ralph Misko it was noted the 1963 act (LB811) became effective July 18.

The new act provided that companies in effect upon that date could continue in operation, but must obtain a license within 60 days (Sept. 18) to continue operation, then must obtain a new license on the annual licensing period of Oct. 1 for the coming year.

The attorney general also held that national banks, federal savings and loan associations and federal credit unions are exempted from obtaining a license under this act, and from visitorial examination from the State Banking Department for compliance with the 1963 Installment Sales Act.

Skopje Reports 9 New Tremors

Belgrade (AP) — The seismological station in Skopje Wednesday reported 9 new quakes in that destroyed capital of the Yugoslav republic of Macedonia.

All these quakes were weak except one, the intensity of which amounted to 3rd degree.

The Skopje information center said that so far there have been recovered 1,012 bodies of which 859 have been identified. Fourteen were foreigners.

Ohioan Gets Perfect Farm Quiz Score

One perfect score out of 644 entrants was made on the 50-question "quiz on farm business" for youth attending the American Institute of Cooperation sessions Wednesday.

Getting every question right for the "top" mark was John Prenger of Minster, Ohio. Close behind with a 98 was Paul Miller of Los Banos, California.

A tie at 96 went to Richard Stierlen of Williams, Minn., and to Jeanie Bein of Berthoud, Colo.

Fourteen youths followed with a tie score of 94 points. Top list included winners from California to New York, but Nebraska failed to register. Minnesota lead with 6 places.

The test covered the complete field of cooperative structure with an extensive understanding of cooperative procedure necessary to score high in the test.

Each youth with a grade in the upper 25% of the test was awarded a certificate of achievement from the American Institute of Cooperation.

Broer Co. Low On Woods Pool

An apparent low base bid of $268,800 for construction of the Woods Park municipal swimming pool at 33rd and O was opened Wednesday at City Hall.

Walter J. Broer Construction Co. submitted the apparent low of 5 bids on the T-shaped, Olympic-size pool.

Other bidders also from Lincoln, were M. W. Anderson Construction Co., $269,728; Olson Construction Co., $271,701; Kingery Construction Co., $274,795, and George Cook Construction Co., $279,934.

Recommendation Due

City officials said a number of alternate specifications on the base proposal would be reviewed and a recommendation made Monday to Mayor Dean Petersen and the City Council.

The 50-meter pool is designed to meet AAU swim meet standards and will become the city's major municipal pool.

The pool will be 165 by 55 feet with a 60-by-60-foot diving well and include bathhouse, filtering equipment and 10-meter diving tower.

Non-Tax Funds

Public Safety Director Emmett Junge said the pool scheduled for completion by May 1, will be constructed from non-tax funds.

Financing includes a $25,000 gift from the Woods Charitable Trust Fund Inc and revenue bonds that will be retired from the swimming pool's operating funds.

Copies Of Bottle Club Proposal Are Available

Copies of the revised draft of the proposed Lincoln ordinance on bottle clubs and non-profit corporations under LB21 are available at the City Clerk's office.

The City Council requested the revised draft including proposed amendments be made available to its members and other interested parties prior to the public hearing next Monday.

A public hearing was held Monday on the proposed $400 occupation tax and 1 a.m. closing hour, but the council indicated further hearing would be given proposed amendments.

Guest Lists

These proposed "tighter control" amendments would require membership and guests lists be available for inspection by law enforcement officers, require members and guests to be off the licensed premises by the closing hour, authorize police officers to enter the licensed premises to determine if state or city laws are being violated, and require a guest register giving also the name of the member accompanying the guest.

Another amendment would require bottle clubs to label bottles held in storage with the name of the member owning the bottle.

While the original draft proposed a 12:10 a.m. closing, the revised draft proposes 1 a.m.

The council has suggested a uniform closing hour be established with Lancaster County and West Lincoln, which have indicated favoring a 1 a.m. curfew under LB21.

Fraternity's Waiver Appeal Rejected By Zoning Board

The Board of Zoning Appeals Wednesday denied the application of Delta Sigma Psi fraternity for waiver of setback requirements on a proposed 4-story fraternity house at 1645 R.

The fraternity proposes to raze the present house and construct a new structure housing 48 persons.

Board discussion indicated the site is insufficient for the proposed structure and that additional area should be acquired.

The board approved the application of J. C. Weaver to construct a service station canopy encroaching into the required front yard at an 84th and O site. The required front yard in the "G-1 local business" district is 50 feet The proposed canopy would extend to the property line.

Other major commission action:

—approved waiver of front yard requirements to permit a parking lot to extend to the property lines on 22nd and Garfield as requested by Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church.

—denied a waiver for a second sign on the Redeemenr Lutheran Church property at 510 So. 33rd, but suggested a temporary permit be issued, if legally possible.

Some Loan Benefits May Be Restored

Veterans who have used their GI loan quaranty benefits may have their eligibility restored under certain conditions, A. H. Duxbury, manager of the Veterans Administration regional office said in Lincoln Tuesday.

Eligibility may be restored for World War II veterans up to July 25, 1967, and for Korean Conflict veterans up to Jan. 31, 1975, under the following circumstances:

—the veteran is forced to sell his home for reasons of health, employment or other compelling circumstances.

—the property is taken by a government agency for public use.

—the property is destroyed by a natural hazard.

—if in service and transferred by military orders necessitating disposing of his home.

—if he disposes of his home and moves to another town because of a new job, provided the VA is released from liability on previous loans.

Norfolk Man Is Named To State Resources Group

Norfolk businessman David Powell was appointed to the Nebraska Resources Committee by Gov. Frank Morrison Wednesday.

He replaces Bernard DeLay of Norfolk, who resigned to accept an appointment to the board of directors of Consumers Public Power District.

Norman Otto, Morrison's administrative assistant, said Powell has been active in luring industry to Norfolk.

Morris Is 'Not Disappointed' With 1963-65 Appropriation

State Institutional Director George Morris Wednesday said he was "not disappointed" with his department's appropriation for the 1963-65 biennium.

The 1963 Legislature approved an institutional budget of just over $38 million for the biennium, around $4 million more than the 1961-63 biennium. The department had asked for $39,724,499 this time.

Morris said the Legislature "provided funds for additional people to strengthen present programs, and also money for nominal pay raises." He said no programs will be weakened as a result of the appropriation, although the department's long-range construction program will be cut in half.

The institutions will get an estimated $1.8 million from the building fund levy for construction during the next two years. Morris said the budget "slowed us down to about 50% of the rate we wanted to go."

Actually, he said the only project which will have to be postponed during the present biennium will be a proposed $1.6 million hospital at the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Grand Island.

However, a $400,000 domiciliary unit will be erected there in the next two years to replace a delapidated facility now being used. There is a hospital there now, but Morris described it as "inadequate."

Pacifists Keep Up Vigil Before AEC

New York (AP) — Self-styled pacifists picketed an Atomic Energy Commission office here Wednesday for the second day of a 3-day "vigil" marking the anniversaries of the Hiroshima and Nagasaki atom bombings.

Hiroshima was bombed 18 years ago Tuesday and Nagasaki 18 years ago Thursday.

The demonstrators are members of the Committee for Nonviolent Action.

About two dozen demonstrators appeared outside the office. Some marched and others sat down on the sidewalk.

Car Thefts Up 14%

'Little Blue Books' Publisher Is Sentenced For Obscenity

Topeka Kan. (AP)—Henry J. Haldeman, 43, of Girard, Kan., publisher of the Little Blue Books, was sentenced Wednesday to 18 months in prison for sending and advertising obscene literature by mail.

U.S. Dist Judge George Templar stayed the sentence pending appeal and Haldeman was freed on $2,500 bond.

Haldeman was indicted by a grand jury in 1961 and convicted last May on 9 counts, 8 of using the mails to send advertising on obscene materials and one of mailing obscene material to a Geneva, Neb., address.

Sentences of 18 months on each count were to run concurrently.

Haldeman 'Broke'

Haldeman's attorney, Sam Crow, asked the fine be made payable whenever Haldeman was able to pay. Crow said Haldeman is "broke."

The Little Blue Book Co. of Girard founded by Haldeman's father, the late E. Haldeman-Julius, publishes 3,000 titles, including the classics.

Judge Templar commented in court that he had found the books "quite useful" when he was in school, but that the ones he read didn't fall within the sex category.

Haldeman testified that he had stopped publishing the 8 titles forming the basis for the indictments.

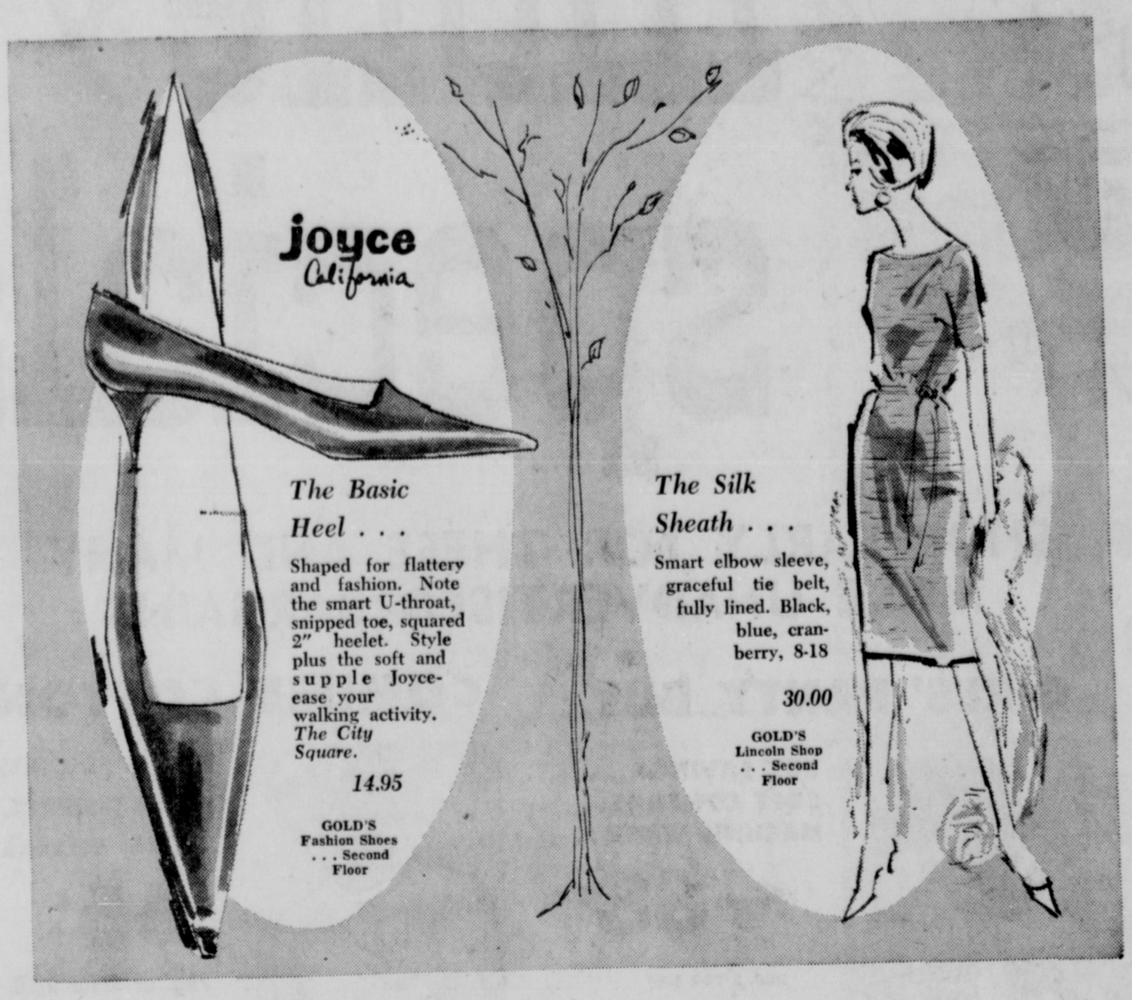

One Hospitalized In 2-Car Mishap

Charles J. Sybert, 1228 So. 23rd, was listed in fair condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital Wednesday evening after suffering neck and chest injuries in a two-car accident at 16th and D Wednesday afternoon.

Richard Lee Lowe, 345 Witherbee, driver of the other car, was examined and released for similar injuries.

Trick Fountain Soaks Rusk, Russian Children

By REINHOLD ENSZ

Leningrad, U.S.S.R. (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, taking a day off from intricate diplomatic games, went romping with Leningrad children Wednesday, and got soaked by a trick fountain built for Peter the Great.

Rusk came to this summer Czarist capital to relax after signing the partial nuclear test ban treaty in Moscow and before flying to the Black Sea for talks with Premier Khrushchev.

Also ahead lay a hard-working Saturday in Bonn, where Rusk will seek to convince West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government that the treaty will not imply any recognition of communist East Germany.

But the fairy tale fountains of the Peterhof Palace washed these cares away for a few hours.

Has Use For One

Rusk thought he had a use for one of the fountains—an innocent-looking pile of rocks from which a spray spurts when a button is pressed some distance away.

"I could use one of those in my office to get rid of visitors," he remarked.

Rusk took the plunge into the waters of a different one which shoots spray onto a bench every few minutes. He saw children trying to dodge and joined them. He wasn't fast enough to get away before the water hit him.

Still damp, the secretary joined his party for a fast whirl in a motorcade through the broad streets of Leningrad before turning to more serious affairs.

Calming Germans

Plans for him to visit Bonn were announced in Washington Wednesday. The administration hopes he can calm Adenauer's fears that the nuclear treaty might threaten its interests.

He also is expected to tell the chancellor what he talked about with Khrushchev and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The West Germans expressed "great satisfaction" about Rusk's plans.

Smallpox Reported

Warsaw (AP)—The Polish Press Agency PAP reports the number of persons suspected of having smallpox in southwest Poland has increased from 70 to 93, with 7 deaths from the disease in the past week.

West German Fighter Crashes; Five Killed

Bonn, Germany (AP) — A west German air force F86 fighter crashed into an antiaircraft unit near Aurich, in north Germany, and 5 German servicemen were killed. The dead were the pilot, whose craft had been serving as an aiming point in dry fire target practice, and 4 soldiers of the antiaircraft unit. No shells were fired. The defense ministry said the plane nosed down suddenly and exploded when it hit.

5 NWU Coeds Win National Scholarships

Five Nebraska Wesleyan University coeds have won National Methodist Scholarships for 1963-64.

The $500 awards for tuition and fees went to:

—Carol Jeanine Barton, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Barton, Chappell.

—Marcia Adrienne Dillon, senior, psychology major, daughter of Mrs. Marcella Dillon, Ainsworth.

—Beth Ann Drake, sophomore, business major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Howard Drake, Beemer.

—Judith Karre, senior, education major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Karre, Omaha.

—Danita Nelson, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Nelson, Colman, S.D.

Methodist scholarships are granted on the basis of superior academic ability, leadership, churchmanship, character, personality and need, according to Warren Parker, NWU student financial aids officer.

Some 500 awards are made nationally each year.

Funds for the scholarships come from local Methodist churches through an offering on Methodist Student Sunday in June.

Trick Fountain Soaks Rusk, Russian Children

By REINHOLD ENSZ

Leningrad, U.S.S.R. (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, taking a day off from intricate diplomatic games, went romping with Leningrad children Wednesday, and got soaked by a trick fountain built for Peter the Great.

Rusk came to this summer Czarist capital to relax after signing the partial nuclear test ban treaty in Moscow and before flying to the Black Sea for talks with Premier Khrushchev.

Also ahead lay a hard-working Saturday in Bonn, where Rusk will seek to convince West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government that the treaty will not imply any recognition of communist East Germany.

But the fairy tale fountains of the Peterhof Palace washed these cares away for a few hours.

Has Use For One

Rusk thought he had a use for one of the fountains—an innocent-looking pile of rocks from which a spray spurts when a button is pressed some distance away.

"I could use one of those in my office to get rid of visitors," he remarked.

Rusk took the plunge into the waters of a different one which shoots spray onto a bench every few minutes. He saw children trying to dodge and joined them. He wasn't fast enough to get away before the water hit him.

Still damp, the secretary joined his party for a fast whirl in a motorcade through the broad streets of Leningrad before turning to more serious affairs.

Calming Germans

Plans for him to visit Bonn were announced in Washington Wednesday. The administration hopes he can calm Adenauer's fears that the nuclear treaty might threaten its interests.

He also is expected to tell the chancellor what he talked about with Khrushchev and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The West Germans expressed "great satisfaction" about Rusk's plans.

Smallpox Reported

Warsaw (AP)—The Polish Press Agency PAP reports the number of persons suspected of having smallpox in southwest Poland has increased from 70 to 93, with 7 deaths from the disease in the past week.

West German Fighter Crashes; Five Killed

Bonn, Germany (AP) — A west German air force F86 fighter crashed into an antiaircraft unit near Aurich, in north Germany, and 5 German servicemen were killed. The dead were the pilot, whose craft had been serving as an aiming point in dry fire target practice, and 4 soldiers of the antiaircraft unit. No shells were fired. The defense ministry said the plane nosed down suddenly and exploded when it hit.

5 NWU Coeds Win National Scholarships

Five Nebraska Wesleyan University coeds have won National Methodist Scholarships for 1963-64.

The $500 awards for tuition and fees went to:

—Carol Jeanine Barton, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Barton, Chappell.

—Marcia Adrienne Dillon, senior, psychology major, daughter of Mrs. Marcella Dillon, Ainsworth.

—Beth Ann Drake, sophomore, business major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Howard Drake, Beemer.

—Judith Karre, senior, education major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Karre, Omaha.

—Danita Nelson, junior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Nelson, Colman, S.D.

Methodist scholarships are granted on the basis of superior academic ability, leadership, churchmanship, character, personality and need, according to Warren Parker, NWU student financial aids officer.

Some 500 awards are made nationally each year.

Funds for the scholarships come from local Methodist churches through an offering on Methodist Student Sunday in June.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Romjue Hits 72; Holds Big Lead

. . . TWO TIED FOR 2ND

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Larry Romjue is probably hoping he had Dick Thoene's touch with the putter at this stage of the Lincoln Men's City Golf Tournament.

Romjue, who maintained his 5-stroke lead through Wednesday's second round at Pioneers, could easily have gone into today's 3rd round at the Lincoln Country Club with a 7-stroke lead if his putter hadn't deserted him at the 9th and 18th greens.

The 24-year-old insurance salesman 3-putted both greens to finish with a par 72 over the Pioneers Course Wednesday to give him a 36-hole total of 140.

Thoene, who made the championship flight cutoff of 157 with a 151, extended his string of not having 3-putted a green in city tournament play to 108 consecutive holes Wednesday.

Thoene played the entire 72 holes last year without a 3-putt green and has gone through the first 36 holes in this year's meet without a 3-putter.

And in the middle of the stream, he has changed putters. Thoene broke the putter with which he started the string and is now working on his second putter.

For the second straight day, golfers have finished in the dark with 5 threesomes finishing their Wednesday round by putting via flashlight on the final green.

Three golfers chose not to finish and will complete their round this morning at Pioneers before starting the 3rd round at the Lincoln Country Club.

The golfers who will complete second round play today are William Bloom, Lloyd Sloan and Floyd Smith.

Romjue holds a 5-stroke lead over Ray Wallasky and Dick Watson, who are tied for second with 145 totals. Watson moved into the picture with the best round of the day—a 70 to go with his 75 at Hillcrest Tuesday.

Wallasky had been in a 3-way tie for second after the first day and maintained his second-place spot with a par 72 at Pioneers.

Romjue came into the 9th green with a one-under-par score, but 3-putted that green for a bogey 5. He then went two-under-par when he sank a 20-foot putt for an eagle on the par 5, 15th green and maintained the two-stroke advantage on par until the final green.

His approach shot on the green and his chip shot stopped about 10 feet past the pin. Romjue's first putt was 4 feet long and his second tap stopped at the edge of the cup. The 3 putts gave him a double bogey 6 and a par 72 for the 18 holes.

Seven strokes back of the leader are Bob Lau Jr. and Tom Ludwick, each of whom shot one-over-par 73s Wednesday for 36-hole totals of 147.

Matt Taber, the defending champion, virtually eliminated himself from championship contention when he shot a two-over-par 74 to take a 36-hole total of 152 into today's 3rd round.

All flights below the championship will be decided today after play at the Lincoln Country Club. The championship flight will return to Hillcrest Friday for the final 18 holes.

Chip shots: Two other golfers carded eagles Wednesday in addition to Romjue. Bill Lien eagled the par 5, 480-yard 11th hole, and Pete Czura scored an eagle 3 on the par 5, 446-yard, 15th . . . Ed Smith took a 4 on every hole in the back 9 en route to a 76 round . . . Bert Ehrman, Dick Pekar, and Phil Navin —playing a threesome—all turned in the same score of 93 for Wednesday's round.

Scores in championship flight:

Judge To Charge Jury-- Story 'Libelous Per Se'

. . . LeROY PEARCE TESTIFIES

Atlanta (AP)—A federal judge said Wednesday that a Saturday Evening Post article charging a football fix was libelous on its face but he refused to direct a verdict for Wally Butts, suing Post publishers for $10 million because of the article.

"I expect to charge the jury that this article is libelous per se" said U.S. Dist. Judge Lewis R. Morgan. He told attorneys for Butts that the jury must decide whether the publishing firm, Curtis Publishing Co., has proved the article was true.

"The defendant has the burden of proving the sting of the libel was true and it is up to the jury to decide," Morgan ruled.

Attorneys for Butts moved for a directed verdict immediately after Curtis attorneys rested their defense in an unexpected move.

The judge denied the motion. Attorneys for Butts were presenting his case when court adjourned for the day.

"They have not proven the truth of these charges in any substantial way at all," argued Allen Lockerman, attorney for the 58-year-old Butts who resigned Feb. 28 as Georgia athletic director after nearly 25 years of coaching there

No Proof Argued

Lockerman argued that the publishing firm had not proved innuendos in the article which he said "charges that the plaintiff Butts did these things as a gambling device."

He said the most that could be said about what testimony had been presented was that information allegedly passed from Butts to Bryant was helpful but did not constitute a fix.

Written testimony from the article's author, Frank Graham Jr. of Brooklyn, N.Y., was read into the record by Lockerman and William H. Schroder, chief counsel for Butts.

In the deposition, Graham told of an Atlanta interview with insurance salesman George P. Burnett who testified he overheard Butts giving Georgia football data to Bryant in a long-distance telephone call last Sept. 13.

"He never had the notes . . . we were never able to get them," Graham's testimony read. The notes which Burnett said he made while listening to the telephone conversation, were in the hands of university officials

"I never got them," Graham said in the deposition.

'Depend On Recollection'

"I had to depend on the recollection of Burnett, Flack and Howard—what Burnett told them."

This referred to Milton Flack, business associate of Burnett, and attorney Pierre Howard, who represented Burnett.

Final witness for the publishing firm was Georgia end coach Leroy Pearce, who said if Alabama had secret information about Georgia, it was not apparent in the game. He narrated films of the game for the jury.

"I think they ran anywhere they wanted to," was Pearce's reply when asked it it appeared that Alabama shunned one Georgia tackle.

The tackle, Ray Rissmiller, allegedly was described as "greatest in history" in the notes.

Helpful

Pearce, head coach Johnny Griffith and offensive backfield coach Frank Inman of Georgia all testified that if the information contained in the notes was given to Bryant, it would have been helpful in preparing for defense against Georgia.

The notes described Georgia's two basic playing formations for that game, the coaches said.

"If Alabama was taking this information and relying on it, they did not indicate they were relying on this information, did they?" Pearce was asked on cross-examination.

"No sir," the coach said.

Earlier, Griffith returned briefly to the stand and was asked if he thought the information in the notes, if passed on to Alabama, could have affected the outcome.

"Yes sir," Griffith said.

"Would it have been helpful to you in preparing for Georgia had you been the Alabama coach?"

"Yes sir."

Inman said prior knowledge of an opponent's formations —especially at the start of the season—would be important.

"Could any information contained in these notes have been helpful to Alabama?"

"Yes sir."

Pepsi Pitcher Chucks No-Hitter; Wins, 10-0

. . . FILA AUTHORS GEM

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Hastings — Omaha Pepsi's Ken Fila dumped Lincoln Gerry's from the American Legion baseball tourney with a sparkling no-hitter Wednesday night, 10-0.

The 15-year old lefthander walked 4 and sent 16 down on strikes as pepsi moved into tonight's finals against Omaha Storz.

Storz nipped Pepsi 1-0 in the tourney opener Saturday and will have Bob Churchich, who tossed the shutout, going against Pepsi again. Pepsi coach Tom Bineen said he will choose his starter from among 4 candidates just before game time.

Gerry's ace, Bob Hergenrader, found two days rest to be too little after a 12 inning win over Grand Island. Pepsi collected 8 hits and 4 runs off Hergy in 4 innings.

Coach Dave Meyers brought in Mick Zangari to finish the game after Hergy threw 3 pitches in the 5th. The University of Nebraska freshman's arm had tightened up.

Zangari allowed only two hits in his relief effort, but poor support let Pepsi score 6 unearned runs off him.

Leading the Omaha attack with 3 hits apiece were shortstop Len Boryca and 3rd baseman Jack Vacek.

Fila's no-hitter was the second posted by the Pepsi staff in the tourney. Jerry Beninato and Rich Vasek had combined to blank Scottsbluff Sunday. Gerry's close the season with a 25-9 record.

Dodgers' Koufax Fails In Attempt At No. 19

By United Press International

Tommy Davis homered on the first pitch in the 11th inning Wednesday to give the Los Angeles Dodgers a 3-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The blow came too late to provide record-setting pitcher Sandy Koufax the victory. Instead the win went to relief hurler Ron Perranoski, his 11th, who took over from southpaw Koufax with one out in the 10th and managed to prevent the Cubs from winning.

Koufax struck out 11 batters before he was removed to become the first lefthander and the second National League player ever to strike out 200 batters in 3 successive seasons.

Wednesday's performance gave Koufax 210 this year. He had 216 last season and a league record 269 in 1961. The only other hurler since 1900 to have 3 straight 200-plus strikeout seasons was Christy Mathewson.

Jim Hickman connected for a single, double, triple and home run to lead the New York Mets to a 7-3 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League's only other day game.

Tony Taylor scored with the winning run on Jim Maloney's wild pitch in the 7th inning to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 2-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Reliefer Frank Funk's wild pitch in the 9th inning enables Bob Bailey to score with the run that gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 5-4 win over the Milwaukee Braves. Al McBean, the 5th Pirate pitcher, retired the Braves after taking over with the bases filled in the 9th to pick up his 11th win against 3 losses.

Dick Farrell and Hal Woodeshick combined in a 9-hitter to give the Houston Colts a 1-0 decision over the San Francisco Giants. The Colts scored the game's only run in the 4th inning on Al Spangler's single, a sacrifice and a single by John Bateman.

Chiefs Out Of Tourney

Wahoo (AP) — Offutt Air Base and North Platte racked up victories Wednesday night in the Nebraska Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament, both games being called after 7 innings due to the 6-run lead rule.

Offutt opened the night's play with a 10-3 breeze past Hrubys of Omaha. The airmen nailed down the win with 4 runs in the third on 5 singles.

Wahoo and Gretna, the two unbeaten teams in the tourney, will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday with the loser playing Offutt, now 2-1, Friday night at 8.

Fullmer, Tiger To Battle In Strangest Setting Yet

Ibadan, Nigeria (AP)—In the strangest setting yet devised for a world championship fight, Gene Fullmer and Dick Tiger will do battle here Saturday for the middleweight crown.

The 15-round bout starts at 7:30 p.m., local time, which is 2:30 p.m., CST. A crowd of 45,000 is expected to pack Liberty Stadium. Tiger, who took the crown from Fullmer in San Francisco in October, 1962, and then fought a draw with him last Feb. 23 in Las Vegas, is the favorite.

Tiger is the hero of Nigeria, one of the new African nations, and the Nigerian government itself is subsidizing the promotion of the fight. Tiger has been assured $100,000, and Fullmer, who comes from West Jordan, Utah, has been guaranteed $50,000.

The two strong 160-pounders have finished their hard workouts and are now tapering off in preparation for the 3rd ring encounter.

Already the curious fans are drifting into Ibadan, which is 89 miles inland from the seaport Capital of Lagos. Colorful tribal costumes are mixed with smart European attire and the huge crowd Saturday night should take on a varied and almost improbable aspect.

Already grave concern is felt for what might happen on the two twisting roads that link Ibadan and Lagos. They were never designed for heavy traffic, and as this is the rainy season both roads are often blocked for days at a time by standing water. Even now there is 18 inches of water in spots on the main road, and direct Lagos-Ibadan rail traffic has been halted until further notice.

The rusty remains of automobiles and trucks along the roadside attest to the hardships of the highway. And as if the rain were not enough, there are numerous blind curves, creaky bridges, treacherous shoulders and steep hills.

North Gridders Work On Kicking, Offense

Fremong (AP)—Coach Dick Christie worked his North Shrine Bowl football squad on kicking Wednesday morning, then turned to work on offense in the afternoon.

He said George Blankenship of Omaha Holy Name and Robin Groeme of Oakland were looking good on kickoffs and extra point kicking. He praised the punting of Groeme and Tom DiBlase of Creighton Prep.

In the scrimmage workout, Christie praised the work of George Kovar of Broken Bow, defensive back Eric Wit of Norfolk and defensive linebackers Emil Sovota of Schuyler and Dick Preston of Lyons.

Christie said his boys were hitting hard and the squad was in excellent condition.

Working at quarterback were Larry Grasmick of Wahoo and Roger Sindell of Omaha Tech. Christie is hopeful that signal caller Bob Churchich of Omaha, North now competing in the State Legion Baseball Tournament at Hastings, will join the squad if Churchich's team—the Omaha Storzes—does not win the championship and qualify for regional play.

South Squad Enthusiastic

Crete (AP)—The South Shrine Bowl High School Football squad concluded its workouts Wednesday with 15 minutes of scrimmage which head coach Ollie Smith of Hastings described as "enthusiastic despite the heat."

Dick Kozlal of Omaha Bishop Ryan won praise from the coaches for his work on defense and Howard Hoover of Holdrege got a nod for "good defensive work."

Good offensive play was exhibited by quarterbacks Wayne Weber of Hastings and Marvin Briscoe of Omaha South.

Prep League Holding Talks

It will be November at least before any concrete plans for the formation of the proposed new athletic league involving the 3 Lincoln schools will be made.

Dr. Steven Watkins, superintendent of schools in Lincoln, attended a meeting in Omaha Wednesday and reported dozens of problems were discussed, but none solved.

There were representatives from the 3 Lincoln schools 5 Omaha schools, Creighton Prep, Bishop Ryan, Westside, Bellevue, Hastings and Grand Island.

In recent weeks there has been a clamor from some circles to include Boys Town and Council Bluffs, Abraham Lincoln and make it a 16-team circuit instead of 14. Regardless of whether this is done, and this subject came up at the meeting in Omaha, the league will have two divisions.

The target date for competition is the fall of 1964.

Committees have been assigned to look into all problems.

Races At Chadron

Chadron (UPI) — The Chadron Jaycees will sponsor stock car and jalopy races in conjunction with the Dawes County Fair Friday evening, Aug. 16.

There will be about 40 cars entered in the race.

15-2 DECISION TO ALL-STARS

Prairie Maid hurlers got off to a cold start Wednesday night and couldn't recover as Prairie Maid wound up on the short end of a 15-2 score in its contest with the Elks All-Stars.

The All-Stars scored 6 times in the first inning and 7 in the second on their way to the victory. They added two more in the 3rd.

Tonight the Elks All-Stars will meet the Lincoln Moose.

Beatrice Fails In Title Try

Hastings — The Beatrice Elks Midgets bid for a perfect baseball season was stopped in the state finals Wednesday by Lexington, 9-6.

The Beatrice club carried a perfect 28-0 record into the title game. Lexington coached by University of Nebraska football tackle Monte Kiffen closed its season with a 29-2 record.

The new state champs jumped to a 3-0 lead in the first inning and never trailed. They added two runs in the 4th and 4 unearned tallies in the 6th.

Beatrice scored two runs in the 3rd, 6th and 7th innings and went down with the tying run at the plate.

Lanky lefthander Jim Berar spaced 8 hits in handing Beatrice its first loss.

North Gridders Work On Kicking, Offense

Fremong (AP)—Coach Dick Christie worked his North Shrine Bowl football squad on kicking Wednesday morning, then turned to work on offense in the afternoon.

He said George Blankenship of Omaha Holy Name and Robin Groeme of Oakland were looking good on kickoffs and extra point kicking. He praised the punting of Groeme and Tom DiBiase of Creighton Prep.

In the scrimmage workout, Christie praised the work of George Kovar of Broken Bow, defensive back Eric Wit of Norfolk and defensive linebackers Emil Sovota of Schuyler and Dick Preston of Lyons.

Christie said his boys were hitting hard and the squad was in excellent condition.

Working at quarterback were Larry Grasmick of Wahoo and Roger Sindell of Omaha Tech. Christie is hopeful that signal caller Bob Churchich of Omaha, North now competing in the State Legion Baseball Tournament at Hastings, will join the squad if Churchich's team—the Omaha Storzes—does not win the championship and qualify for regional play.

South Squad Enthusiastic

Crete (AP)—The South Shrine Bowl High School Football squad concluded its workouts Wednesday with 15 minutes of scrimmage which head coach Ollie Smith of Hastings described as "enthusiastic despite the heat."

Dick Kozial of Omaha Bishop Ryan won praise from the coaches for his work on defense and Howard Hoover of Holdrege got a nod for "good defensive work."

On pass defense, the coaches liked the work of Don Tejrall of Ceresco in the secondary.

Good offensive play was exhibited by quarterbacks hibited by quarterbacks Wayne Weber of Hastings and Marvin Briscoe of Omaha South.

Prep League Holding Talks

It will be November at least before any concrete plans for the formation of the proposed new athletic league involving the 3 Lincoln schools will be made.

Dr. Steven Watkins, superintendent of schools in Lincoln, attended a meeting in Omaha Wednesday and reported dozens of problems were discussed, but none solved.

There were representatives from the 3 Lincoln schools 5 Omaha schools, Creighton Prep, Bishop Ryan, Westside, Bellevue, Hastings and Grand Island.

In recent weeks there has been a clamor from some circles to include Boys Town and Council Bluffs, Abraham Lincoln and make it a 16-team circuit instead of 14. Regardless of whether this is done, and this subject came up at the meeting in Omaha, the league will have two divisions.

The target date for competition is the fall of 1964.

Committees have been assigned to look into all problems.

Races At Chadron

Chadron (UPI) — The Chadron Jaycees will sponsor stock car and jalopy races in conjunction with the Dawes County Fair Friday evening, Aug. 16.

There will be about 40 cars entered in the race.

15-2 DECISION TO ALL-STARS

Prairie Maid hurlers got off to a cold start Wednesday night and couldn't recover as Prairie Maid wound up on the short end of a 15-2 score in its contest with the Elks All-Stars.

The All-Stars scored 6 times in the first inning and 7 in the second on their way to the victory. They added two more in the 3rd.

Tonight the Elks All-Stars will meet the Lincoln Moose.

Beatrice Fails In Title Try

Hastings — The Beatrice Elks Midgets bid for a perfect baseball season was stopped in the state finals Wednesday by Lexington, 9-6.

The Beatrice club carried a perfect 28-0 record into the title game. Lexington coached by University of Nebraska football tackle Monte Kiffen closed its season with a 29-2 record.

The new state champs jumped to a 3-0 lead in the first inning and never trailed. They added two runs in the 4th and 4 unearned tallies in the 6th.

Beatrice scored two runs in the 3rd, 6th and 7th innings and went down with the tying run at the plate.

Lanky lefthander Jim Beran spaced 8 hits in handing Beatrice its first loss.

The New York Yankees cashed in on the 3-hit pitching of young Al Downing and homers by Joe Pepitone and Elston Howard Wednesday night to coast to a 9-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

Downing, who beat the Senators with a two-hitter earlier this year, was in complete command as he marked up his eighth win against 3 losses since being called up from the minors in June.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant pitched a 5-hitter as the Cleveland Indians downed the Baltimore Orioles 4-1. Joe Azcue and Fred Whitfield homered for the Indians to help hand Milt Pappas his 7th setback.

Rookie Pete Ward hit his 14th homer and two singles and Juan Pizarro notched his 14th victory as the Chicago White Sox defeated the Kansas City Athletics, 7-3. Dave Nicholson's two-run double was the big blow of a 4-run 6th inning outburst which clinched the game for the White Sox.

Al Kaline drove in 4 runs, 3 of them with a 7th-inning homer off Boston relief ace Dick Radatz Wednesday to lead the Tigers to a 5-4 victory over the Red Sox.

Until Kaline connected off Radatz, it looked like the Sox would take a 4-2 victory on the strength of a pair of solo homers by Gary Geiger and a two-run homer by Dick Stuart.

Home runs by Harmon Killebrew and relief pitcher Bill Dailey fired the Minnesota Twins to a 9-4 victory over the Los Angeles Angels. Killebrew's homer was his 26th of the season and came with one on in the 8th when the twins barged ahead 5-4. Dailey hit his first major league homer in the 9th.

Marsh: Tax Not Politically Inspired

Secretary of State Frank Marsh said Wednesday better communications between the legislative and executive branches of state government could have averted the recent controversy over the state property tax levy.

In a letter to 4 state senators, Marsh rebuffed the charge by Sen. Richard D. Marvel of Hastings, Budget Committee chairman, that the levy was politically inspired.

Marsh is a member of the board of equalization which set the levy at $9.79½ on every $1,000 assessed valuation, up from $8.43.

'Levy Padded'

Marvel contended the levy was padded to make the Budget Committee and Legislature look foolish.

"This is to advise you that as a taxpayer, I object as vociferously as others when anyone attempts to play politics with my tax money," Marsh said in his letter addressed to Sens. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, Harold B. Stryker of Rising City, Kenneth L. Bowen of Red Cloud and Marvel. All but Bowen are members of the Budget Committee.

"There was no hint of political motivation or attack when the board computed the levy this year." Marsh said.

Harangues

"Constructively, I would suggest that communications be improved between the legislative and the executive. Perhaps we can avoid in the future these harangues which destroy public confidence in state government."

Marvel, in his statement making the charge last week, said he believes in "sound Republican fiscal policy."

Replied Marsh: "I believe in a sound Republican fiscal policy, too. That's why we set the state levy where we set it."

He added, "'it is a constitutional obligation of the board to set the levy, which if the Legislature in its wisdom, decides that it would like to assume, I would respectfully ask it to take the proper steps to remove the executive from this field."

Suggests Cooperation

In a separate letter to Marvel, Marsh suggested that a more "cooperative attitude" on the part of the fiscal analyst staff would "go a long way towards bettering the relations between our divisions and would enhance the values which will accrue to the state of Nebraska."

Following this, Marsh and legislative fiscal analyst John Quigley met for more than two hours late Wednesday afternoon in the secretary of state's office.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Marsh would say only that they "had a satisfactory discussion on the management of the budget of this office."

POSTCARD by Stan Kaplan

A little trickle of music drifted up to my room in the new Cavalieri Hilton. And when I opened the door, the morning sun entered. As warm and cheerful as if it were on Conrad Hilton's payroll and had just gotten a raise.

From here on Monte Mario, you can see all Rome, lying in a sunstruck curtain of morning haze.

Below the balcony, the swimming pool is an oblong of turquoise centered in a scatter of bright umbrellas and sun chairs.

Walkiki on the Tiber! Pass the poi, boy.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Cavalieri Hilton opened in a modest way. (The death of Pope John halted the celebration that usually goes with a new Hilton.)

It was a great disappointment. For Hilton tries to get his hotels in the spirit of the town. (The Opium Den bar in Hong Kong; the pub in London; the taverna in Athens.)

We all expected a Roman orgy here, the kind Cecil B. De Mille used to make into pictures before the Motion Picture Code people said: "Hey, there, you with the stars in your eyes. Nix!"

However, it was all cancelled, whatever it was.

The Cavalieri Hilton simply put a tailored desk clerk behind the ball point and the registration forms. Put some change in the cash register. Some water in the pool and enough maids and waiters to service 400 rooms.

In Rome, jammed with tourists, it is doing well. (Hilton went out and bought two going hotels in the Caribbean to add to the 12 new ones opening all over the world this year. ("Them that has, gets," my grandma used to say.)

☆ ☆ ☆

Is all well in Paradise? Last night I took the automatic elevator to La Pergola to see Richard Mazzarrini, chief of sales for Hilton's Europe empire.

Mazzarrini used to do the same thing for TWA.

"It's not much different," he said. "I used to sell airplane seats. Now we sell rooms."

The Pergola is the rooftop bar and restaurant. It is plushly decorated. Gleaming with glass and polished silver. Warm in brown and gold tones.

"So everything is Parmesan-on-the-pasta with you?" I asked.

Mazzarrinni said as a matter of fact, no.

"I have to do something about getting people into the Teheran Hilton," he said. "What would you do?"

"Tell the truth," I said. "I am never very sure where Teheran is. And in the shuffle of new Hiltons, I didn't know they had one there."

"That is something of the problem," Mazzarrini said with a sigh.

☆ ☆ ☆

"We're trying all kinds of things," said Mazzarrini. "It's in Persia, you know. Lots of history.

"You can shoot leopards — that would appeal to hunting people."

"You mean right in the hotel?" I asked.

"No," said Mazzarrini. "But to get to the leopards — snow leopards — you'd have to use the hotel for a base. Then there are lots of trout and many other things to shoot."

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

A little trickle of music drifted up to my room in the new Cavalieri Hilton. And when I opened the door, the morning sun entered. As warm and cheerful as if it were on Conrad Hilton's payroll and had just gotten a raise.

From here on Monte Mario, you can see all Rome, lying in a sunstruck curtain of morning haze.

Below the balcony, the swimming pool is an oblong of turquoise centered in a scatter of bright umbrellas and sun chairs.

A waiter in a straw hat is mixing a mai tai from a pushcart. And the music from the speakers is—"just a little brown girl in a little grass skirt . . ."

Waikiki on the Tiber! Pass the poi, boy.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Cavalieri Hilton opened in a modest way. (The death of Pope John halted the celebration that usually goes with a new Hilton.)

It was a great disappointment. For Hilton tries to get his hotels in the spirit of the town. (The Opium Den bar in Hong Kong; the pub in London; the taverna in Athens.)

We all expected a Roman orgy here, the kind Cecil B. De Mille used to make into pictures before the Motion Picture Code people said: "Hey, there, you with the stars in your eyes. Nix!"

However, it was all cancelled, whatever it was.

The Cavalieri Hilton simply put a tailored desk clerk behind the ball point and the registration forms. Put some change in the cash register. Some water in the pool and enough maids and waiters to service 400 rooms.

In Rome, jammed with tourists, it is doing well. (Hilton went out and bought two going hotels in the Caribbean to add to the 12 new ones opening all over the world this year. ("Them that has, gets," my grandma used to say.)

☆ ☆ ☆

Is all well in Paradise? Last night I took the automatic elevator to La Pergola to see Richard Mazzarrini, chief of sales for Hilton's Europe empire.

Mazzarrini used to do the same thing for TWA.

"It's not much different," he said. "I used to sell airplane seats. Now we sell rooms."

The Pergola is the rooftop bar and restaurant. It is plushly decorated. Gleaming with glass and polished silver. Warm in brown and gold tones.

"So everything is Parmesan-on-the-pasta with you?" I asked.

Mazzarrinni said as a matter of fact, no.

"I have to do something about getting people into the Teheran Hilton," he said. "What would you do?"

"Tell the truth," I said. "I am never very sure where Teheran is. And in the shuffle of new Hiltons, I didn't know they had one there."

"That is something of the problem," Mazzarrini said with a sigh.

☆ ☆ ☆

"We're trying all kinds of things," said Mazzarrini. "It's in Persia, you know. Lots of history.

"You can shoot leopards — that would appeal to hunting people."

"You mean right in the hotel?" I asked.

"No," said Mazzarrini. "But to get to the leopards — snow leopards — you'd have to use the hotel for a base. Then there are lots of trout and many other things to shoot."

Stock Market Rally Fizzles

New York (AP)—The stock market's three-day rally jolted to an end Wednesday with usually high-flying issues brought down to earth.

It was hardly a surprise to Wall Street. Some analysts said the market may be in the process of turning toward a new test of its recent lows

The rally carried through the first hour of brisk trading with more than 1 million shares changing hands. Then erosion set in and the decline picked up speed through the rest of the session. Prices were at their lowest level at the close.

Steels, motors, mail order-retails, chemicals and airlines declined. Utilities, nonferrous metals, building materials and drugs were mixed. Rails, oils and tobaccos held small gains and stayed in the plus column.

The Associated Press 60-stock average dipped 3 to 277.2 with industrials off 1.5, rails up .7 and utilities up .4.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped 3.14 to 703.92 after having been ahead more than a point early in the session.

Of 1,877 issues traded, 825 fell and 462 rose. There were 60 new 1963 highs and 29 new lows.

Volume edged up to 3.79 million shares from 3.77 million Tuesday.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed. Volume was 1.17 million shares compared with 1.09 million Tuesday. Corporate bonds were unchanged and governments were lower.

Stock Market Rally Fizzles

New York (AP)—The stock market's three-day rally jolted to an end Wednesday with usually high-flying issues brought down to earth.

It was hardly a surprise to Wall Street. Some analysts said the market may be in the process of turning toward a new test of its recent lows

The rally carried through the first hour of brisk trading with more than 1 million shares changing hands. Then erosion set in and the decline picked up speed through the rest of the session. Prices were at their lowest level at the close.

Steels, motors, mail order-retails, chemicals and airlines declined. Utilities, nonferrous metals, building materials and drugs were mixed. Rails, oils and tobaccos held small gains and stayed in the plus column.

The Associated Press 60-stock average dipped .3 to 271.2 with industrials off 1.5, rails up .7 and utilities up .4.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped 3.14 to 703.92 after having been ahead more than a point early in the session.

Of 1,277 issues traded, 525 fell and 462 rose. There were 60 new 1963 highs and 29 new lows.

Volume edged up to 3.79 million shares from 3.77 million Tuesday.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed. Volume was 1.17 million shares compared with 1.09 million Tuesmneay. Corporate bonds were unchanged and governments were lower.

'I'm So Happy I Could Cry,' She Said Tearfully

. . . LINCOLNITE WINS $36,000

By DICK STUCKEY
Star Staff Writer

A Lincoln woman who was "hoping for the top prize but not dreaming of it" had it Wednesday.

Mrs. Eunice Franks of 224 No. 18th, was named the grand prize winner in the Sunray DX Oil Company's $190,698 "Parade of Prizes" contest amid a celebrious, dramatic disclosure at her doorstep.

After DX public relations officials called her to the door and told her of her financial victory—Mrs. Frank's award entitled her to either a new Cadillac each year for 5 years or $600 a month for 5 years—she was led gasping down the steps to applauding spectators and press.

"I'm so happy I could cry," she said, tearfully.

Either Worth $36,000

Mrs. Franks was told she had 24 hours to decide whether she wanted the cars or the cash. Either award is worth about $36,000 before taxes.

"That's a terrible decision to have to make," she laughed as she kissed her husband, William Franks, Jr., hugged contest officials and embraced Ervin Kraft of 4221 So. 39th, manager of Kraft Parking Garage, a DX service station where Mrs. Franks picked up her contest entry blank.

And because she got her blank there, Kraft wins a 14-day all-expense-paid Caribbean cruise for two which he plans to enjoy next winter.

'He's The Brains'

Mrs. Franks later said her husband would make the decision as to Cadillacs or the $600 a month after she had a "good cry."

"He's the brains," she said, "I'm just the bookkeeper."

Mr. Franks employs his wife at his liquor store, 125 No. 19th.

Officials took the shaky, happy, but relatively composed Mrs. Franks to the street where a 5-Cadillac parade including a pickup truck carrying $36,000 in crisp one dollar bills with bank guards awaited.

"I feel like Cinderella," she waved smiling from one of the cars. Her winning "glass slipper" was one of 700,000 nationwide entries which attached the 4th line to a jingle which expounded the benefits of DX products.

Group Calls N-Ban Great Peace Stride

Washington (UPI)—Spokesmen for a newly formed committee supporting the partial nuclear test ban treaty told President Kennedy Wednesday that the agreement may be "the most constructive step towards world peace" since the United Nations.

James J. Wadsworth, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations at the close of the Eisenhower administration, led a delegation of 5 into the President's office to tell of the formation of the non-partisan group of which he is chairman.

The committee made public a list of 167 members prominent in business, labor, religion, science, the arts and other professions. Thirteen were identified as Nobel Prize winners.

In a meeting lasting almost an hour, Wadsworth told the President that the committee wanted to show what it believed "to be the preponderant sentiment of the American people in favor of the treaty."

He said the members agreed that the limited test ban would not answer all critical problems and added that "neither must we minimize the significance of the agreement."

Yank, Korean Plane Search Begun Again

Seoul (Thursday) (UPI) — U.S. Army and South Korean planes took off at dawn again Thursday, renewing search for a light plane missing since Sunday with 5 American officers and an enlisted man aboard.

Weather conditions were reported favorable, a United Nations Command (UNC) spokesman said. A number of air and ground sorties were made Wednesday, but no trace of the craft or the men was found.

North Korea, meanwhile, said in an "authorized" statement by the official North Korean Central News Agency that a U.S. charge it engineered recent attacks on American troops along the truce line was a "whooping lie."

It was the first time the North Korean regime referred to the recent fighting along the border. The denial called the charges "nothing but a dirty trick of the U.S. imperialist aggressors to whip up war psychosis and create a war atmosphere . . ."

The U.S. Army plane now has been missing for 5 days.

2 Jets Searched After Bomb Scare Call Is Received

Omaha (AP) — Two United Air Line jet planes were searched at Omaha after a telephone call to the line's freight office in which the caller said a bomb was "on the Denver plane."

The UAL had one plane in the air headed for Denver and another on the ground about to take off. The plane that had began its flight was called back and both were searched. No bomb was found.

The planes were Flight 821, New York to Seattle, with 69 aboard, and Flight 823, Washington to San Francisco, with 30 aboard.

After the search all passengers were put on Flight 823 for the trip to the coast.

Encephalitis Among Horses Now Epidemic

Hastings (AP)—Sleeping sickness among horses in Adams County has reached epidemic proportions according to a Hastings veterinarian.

The malady, encephalitis, struck 10 horses in the county in the last week and at least 4 have died.

Dr. L. L. Lemmonds of Hastings said this is the greatest outbreak of the disease he has seen in the last 15 years. Encephalitis is transmitted to horses by mosquitoes.

Dr. Bill Kvasnicka of Hastings said his clinic has treated 8 cases of the disease in the last two months, 4 in the last week. The veterinarians are recommending that horse owners who have not had their animals vaccinated do so immediately.

One case of encephalitis was reported in Phelps County and others are suspected.

Nebraska Beer Wholesalers Post To Moulton

Omaha (AP) — William S. Moulton, Omaha, speaker of the Nebraska Legislature, will become public relations associate of the Nebraska Beer Wholesalers Association Inc. Sept. 1.

Moulton has been director of special services for Roberts Dairy Co. for the last 12 years.

He said he will not seek re-election to the legislature.

Thant Says Peace Pact 'Possibility'

New York (AP)—United Nations Secretary General U Thant returned from Moscow Wednesday night and said prospects of "an early nonaggression declaration" by the East and West is "a definite possibility."

But he said it was too early to say when such a pact might be signed.

Thant, who attended ceremonies in Moscow at which the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union signed the nuclear test ban treaty, said the big 3 powers now are concentrating on future steps "not only on nuclear matters but in the field of general complete disarmament."

Cross Set Ablaze After Gov. Welsh Talks To NAACP

Indianapolis (AP) — Indianapolis police confirmed Wednesday that a blazing cross was found early Monday in front of the mansion of Gov. Matthew E. Welsh, who had addressed a statewide rally of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Sunday.

The governor said he had no comment.

Patrolmen from a squad car put out the burning cross and took it to their headquarters property room. The old Ku Klux Klan symbol was in a grassy area in front of the decorative fence around the mansion.

The incident, at 3:52 a.m., was not disclosed until Indianapolis newspapers received anonymous telephone calls Wednesday.

Police officials explained no formal report was made because the cross was burning on state property. They did inform the governor.

CAR BLASTED AS LAW DRAWS NEARER MAFIA

Palermo, Sicily (AP)—Another TNT-loaded car blew up in Palermo Wednesday as police tightened the screws on the Sicilian Mafia.

It was the fifth bomb-rigged automobile to explode in the city in 5 weeks. No one was injured in the latest blast. The first two killed 9 persons —7 of them policemen.

Authorities said the fifth car was exploded outside the home of a Palermo shopkeeper, Salvatore di Noto, in an attempt to silence him.

Di Noto is one of several persons singled out by police for help in providing information on Mafia operations.

More than 400 persons have been arrested. Hundreds of others are reported to have gone into hiding to escape the dragnet.

FCC Is Told To Stay Out Of Satellite Company Business

Washington (UPI)—The corporation charged with creating a commercial communications satellite network told the Federal Communications Commission Wednesday to stay out of its business and announced it would sell stock to the public early next year.

Chairman Leo D. Welch of the Communications Satellite Corp. made the statement in a barbed letter to FCC Chairman E. William Henry.

The clash resulted from an FCC request last month, warning the firm it might not approve further borrowing unless 50% of its stock was sold soon to the public.

Congress Set It Up

The corporation was created by an act of Congress last year and organized by members appointed by President Kennedy. Its purpose is to join with other nations in setting up a worldwide satellite communications network for commercial use.

As one of the firm's regulators, the FCC authorizes borrowing and sale of stock

The FCC authorized the firm to borrow $600,000 last February as part of a $5 million borrowing limit. However the FCC said $100,000 was to be used for operating expenses and $500,000 for research and design of a satellite system.

Welch called the directive "an invasion of the firm's managerial functions."

"I believe that it was not intended by Congress that this should be the case," Welch said, "but rather that the responsibility for such matters as well as for the timing of initial stock offering should be placed in the hands of the corporate directors."

Welch said the FCC order would make the firm's duties and responsibilities "impossible."

One source said the FCC's order last month was to needle the firm which the commission thought was dragging its feet.

Welch, former chairman of Standard Oil, New Jersey, said the corporation's work "does not show any lack of progress" in arranging for the public sale of stock.

More Money

Welch indicated that more money—probably another $600,000—would be needed by the corporation at the end of next month. However, Welch said the firm would not be ready to sell stock to the public until early 1964.

He said the corporation would be ready for public stock sale only after investors could be presented with an accurate idea of satellites systems to be used, costs and other facts.

"We do not concur," Welch said "with respect to the scope of those matters which are relevant to the FCC's" authority on spending borrowed money.

U.S., China Resume Talk In Red Poland

Warsaw, Poland (UPI) — U.S. and Communist Chinese ambassadors met for 3½ hours here Wednesday in the first session of their secretary-shrouded marathon negotiations in nearly 4 months.

The unusually long meeting between U.S. Ambassador John Moors Cabot and Peking envoy Wan Ping-nan took place at the former hunting lodge of 18th century Polish Prince Josef Poniatowski.

It was the 118th meeting since the Sino-American talks were transferred here from Geneva in September 1958. Among the issues between the two nations is the fate of several Americans still imprisoned in Communist China.

The customary tight news blackout on the talks was maintained.

"It was a long one," Ambassador Cabot told newsmen after the meeting, the first since April 17.

Asked if he could say anything else, Cabot replied: "Nope."

The Chinese Communits envoy merely smiled at newsmen, said "good afternoon," and drove off in his old Soviet-built Zis limousine.

'I'm So Happy I Could Cry,' She Said Tearfully

. . . LINCOLNITE WINS $36,000

By DICK STUCKEY
Star Staff Writer

A Lincoln woman who was "hoping for the top prize but not dreaming of it" had it Wednesday.

Mrs. Eunice Franks of 224 No. 18th, was named the grand prize winner in the Sunray DX Oil Company's $190,698 "Parade of Prizes" contest amid a celebrious, dramatic disclosure at her doorstep.

After DX public relations officials called her to the door and told her of her financial victory—Mrs. Frank's award entitled her to either a new Cadillac each year for 5 years or $600 a month for 5 years—she was led gasping down the steps to applauding spectators and press.

"I'm so happy I could cry," she said, tearfully.

Either Worth $36,000

Mrs. Franks was told she had 24 hours to decide whether she wanted the cars or the cash. Either award is worth about $36,000 before taxes.

"That's a terrible decision to have to make," she laughed as she kissed her husband, William Franks, Jr., hugged contest officials and embraced Ervin Kraft of 4221 So. 39th, manager of Kraft Parking Garage, a DX service station where Mrs. Franks picked up her contest entry blank.

And because she got her blank there, Kraft wins a 14-day all-expense-paid Caribbean cruise for two which he plans to enjoy next winter.

'He's The Brains'

Mrs. Franks later said her husband would make the decision as to Cadillacs or the $600 a month after she had a "good cry."

"He's the brains," she said, "I'm just the bookkeeper."

Mr. Franks employs his wife at his liquor store, 125 No. 19th.

Officials took the shaky, happy, but relatively composed Mrs. Franks to the street where a 5-Cadillac parade including a pickup truck carrying $36,000 in crisp one dollar bills with bank guards awaited.

"I feel like Cinderella," she waved smiling from one of the cars. Her winning "glass slipper" was one of 700,000 nationwide entries which attached the 4th line to a jingle which expounded the benefits of DX products.

Group Calls N-Ban Great Peace Stride

Washington (UPI)—Spokesmen for a newly formed committee supporting the partial nuclear test ban treaty told President Kennedy Wednesday that the agreement may be "the most constructive step towards world peace" since the United Nations.

James J. Wadsworth, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations at the close of the Eisenhower administration, led a delegation of 5 into the President's office to tell of the formation of the non-partisan group of which he is chairman.

The committee made public a list of 167 members prominent in business, labor, religion, science, the arts and other professions. Thirteen were identified as Nobel Prize winners.

In a meeting lasting almost an hour, Wadsworth told the President that the committee wanted to show what it believed "to be the preponderant sentiment of the American people in favor of the treaty."

He said the members agreed that the limited test ban would not answer all critical problems and added that "neither must we minimize the significance of the agreement."

CAR BLASTED AS LAW DRAWS NEARER MAFIA

Palermo, Sicily (AP)—Another TNT-loaded car blew up in Palermo Wednesday as police tightened the screws on the Sicilian Mafia.

It was the fifth bomb-rigged automobile to explode in the city in 5 weeks. No one was injured in the latest blast. The first two killed 9 persons —7 of them policemen.

Authorities said the fifth car was exploded outside the home of a Palermo shopkeeper, Salvatore di Noto, in an attempt to silence him.

Di Noto is one of several persons singled out by police for help in providing information on Mafia operations.

More than 400 persons have been arrested. Hundreds of others are reported to have gone into hiding to escape the dragnet.

FCC Is Told To Stay Out Of Satellite Company Business

Washington (UPI)—The corporation charged with creating a commercial communications satellite network told the Federal Communications Commission Wednesday to stay out of its business and announced it would sell stock to the public early next year.

Chairman Leo D. Welch of the Communications Satellite Corp. made the statement in a barbed letter to FCC Chairman E. William Henry.

The clash resulted from an FCC request last month, warning the firm it might not approve further borrowing unless 50% of its stock was sold soon to the public.

Congress Set It Up

The corporation was created by an act of Congress last year and organized by members appointed by President Kennedy. Its purpose is to join with other nations in setting up a worldwide satellite communications network for commercial use.

As one of the firm's regulators, the FCC authorizes borrowing and sale of stock

The FCC authorized the firm to borrow $600,000 last February as part of a $5 million borrowing limit. However the FCC said $100,000 was to be used for operating expenses and $500,000 for research and design of a satellite system.

Welch called the directive "an invasion of the firm's managerial functions."

"I believe that it was not intended by Congress that this should be the case," Welch said, "but rather that the responsibility for such matters as well as for the timing of initial stock offering should be placed in the hands of the corporate directors."

Welch said the FCC order would make the firm's duties and responsibilities "impossible."

One source said the FCC's order last month was to needle the firm which the commission thought was dragging its feet.

Welch, former chairman of Standard Oil, New Jersey, said the corporation's work "does not show any lack of progress" in arranging for the public sale of stock.

More Money

Welch indicated that more money—probably another $600,000—would be needed by the corporation at the end of next month. However, Welch said the firm would not be ready to sell stock to the public until early 1964.

He said the corporation would be ready for public stock sale only after investors could be presented with an accurate idea of satellites systems to be used, costs and other facts.

"We do not concur," Welch said "with respect to the scope of those matters which are relevant to the FCC's" authority on spending borrowed money.

Yank, Korean Plane Search Begun Again

Seoul (Thursday) (UPI) — U.S. Army and South Korean planes took off at dawn again Thursday, renewing search for a light plane missing since Sunday with 5 American officers and an enlisted man aboard.

Weather conditions were reported favorable, a United Nations Command (UNC) spokesman said. A number of air and ground sorties were made Wednesday, but no trace of the craft or the men was found.

North Korea, meanwhile, said in an "authorized" statement by the official North Korean Central News Agency that a U.S. charge it engineered recent attacks on American troops along the truce line was a "whooping lie."

It was the first time the North Korean regime referred to the recent fighting along the border. The denial called the charges "nothing but a dirty trick of the U.S. imperialist aggressors to whip up war psychosis and create a war atmosphere . . ."

The U.S. Army plane now has been missing for 5 days.

2 Jets Searched After Bomb Scare Call Is Received

Omaha (AP) — Two United Air Line jet planes were searched at Omaha after a telephone call to the line's freight office in which the caller said a bomb was "on the Denver plane."

The UAL had one plane in the air headed for Denver and another on the ground about to take off. The plane that had began its flight was called back and both were searched. No bomb was found.

The planes were Flight 821, New York to Seattle, with 69 aboard, and Flight 823, Washington to San Francisco, with 30 aboard.

After the search all passengers were put on Flight 823 for the trip to the coast.

Encephalitis Among Horses Now Epidemic

Hastings (AP)—Sleeping sickness among horses in Adams County has reached epidemic proportions according to a Hastings veterinarian.

The malady, encephalitis, struck 10 horses in the county in the last week and at least 4 have died.

Dr. L. L. Lemmonds of Hastings said this is the greatest outbreak of the disease he has seen in the last 15 years. Encephatlitis is transmitted to horses by mosquitoes.

Dr. Bill Kvasnicka of Hastings said his clinic has treated 8 cases of the disease in the last two months, 4 in the last week. The veterinarians are recommending that horse owners who have not had their animals vaccinated do so immediately.

One case of encephalitis was reported in Phelps County and others are suspected.

Nebraska Beer Wholesalers Post To Moulton

Omaha (AP) — William S. Moulton, Omaha, speaker of the Nebraska Legislature, will become public relations associate of the Nebraska Beer Wholesalers Association Inc. Sept. 1.

Moulton has been director of special services for Roberts Dairy Co. for the last 12 years.

He said he will not seek re-election to the legislature.

Thant Says Peace Pact 'Possibility'

New York (AP)—United Nations Secretary General U Thant returned from Moscow Wednesday night and said prospects of "an early nonaggression declaration" by the East and West is "a definite possibility."

But he said it was too early to say when such a pact might be signed.

Thant, who attended ceremonies in Moscow at which the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union signed the nuclear test ban treaty, said the big 3 powers now are concentrating on future steps "not only on nuclear matters but in the field of general complete disarmament."

Cross Set Ablaze After Gov. Welsh Talks To NAACP

Indianapolis (AP) — Indianapolis police confirmed Wednesday that a blazing cross was found early Monday in front of the mansion of Gov. Matthew E. Welsh, who had addressed a statewide rally of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Sunday.

The governor said he had no comment.

Patrolmen from a squad car put out the burning cross and took it to their headquarters property room. The old Ku Klux Klan symbol was in a grassy area in front of the decorative fence around the mansion.

The incident. at 3:52 a.m., was not disclosed until Indianapolis newspapers received anonymous telephone calls Wednesday.

Police officials explained no formal report was made because the cross was burning on state property. They did inform the governor.

U.S., China Resume Talk In Red Poland

Warsaw, Poland (UPI) — U.S. and Communist Chinese ambassadors met for 3½ hours here Wednesday in the first session of their secretary-shrouded marathon negotiations in nearly 4 months.

The unusually long meeting between U.S. Ambassador John Moors Cabot and Peking envoy Wan Ping-nan took place at the former hunting lodge of 18th century Polish Prince Josef Poniatoswki.

It was the 118th meeting since the Sino-American talks were transferred here from Geneva in September 1958. Among the issues between the two nations is the fate of several Americans still imprisoned in Communist China.

The customary tight news blackout on the talks was maintained.

"It was a long one," Ambassador Cabot told newsmen after the meeting, the first since April 17.

Asked if he could say anything else, Cabot replied: "Nope."

The Chinese Communits envoy merely smiled at newsmen, said "good afternoon," and drove off in his old Soviet-built Zis limousine.
